Eleven persons arrested on 14 charges

Riot act invoked following downtown area disturbance

The riot act was read to some 100 persons in the downtown Washington C.H. area early Saturday which resulted in the arrest of nine area men and two area women on charges of failure to disperse, disorderly conduct and interference with arrest.

Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott reported two initial incidents which caused patrons from local taverns to fill the streets, creating a need for all available police officers and Fayette County sheriff's deputies and auxiliaries from both departments to be called in for duty to help quell the disturbance.

At 1:15 a.m. Washington C.H. Police Specialist William Cales heard a disturbance behind the Emerald Inn on S. Fayette Street and observed Chester T. Steed, 41, of 738 Eastern Ave., take a swing at an unidentified man. Spec. Cales intervened and charged Steed with disorderly conduct. Shortly after, Police Ptl. Larry Mongold was in the 200 block of E. Court Street writing a parking ticket when he heard Wendell S. Hyer, 25, of 1005 Millwood Ave., yell something and walk into the H and H Tavern. Ptl. Mongold charged Hyer with disorderly conduct. Hyer stated he was greeting a friend further down the street.

Chief Scott explained over the past weeks many complaints have been filed with the police department by persons residing above stores and other business establishments in town about the extreme noise level of the tavern patrons. Other reports have been filed by persons in cars who have been harassed at stop lights by people walking the streets at night, going from bar to bar.

These two incidents caused tavern patrons to fill the streets blocking traffic as the crowd moved down N. Fayette Street to police headquarters, yelling and screaming and making abusive remarks about police, Chief Scott explained.

Individual related incidents reported by police involved the arrest of Norbert Kent, Sharon Justice and Jay Garringer. Kent 19, of 5000 Ohio 41-N, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and failure to disperse when he refused to move, according to police. When the arrest was made, Sharon Justice, 19, of 608 Carolyn Rd., attempted to pull Kent away from officers and was arrested and charged with interfering with arrest.

Jay L. Garringer, 22, of 224 N. North St., sustained injury when he resisted

Fair attendance ahead of pace

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State Fair attracted 172,510 visitors Friday, pushing attendance for the 1975 exposition ahead of the record pace set two years ago.

Officials said attendance for the first two days of the fair was 330,122, compared with the two-day total of 320,603 in 1973, when a record 2,223,589 persons attended the 12-day extravaganza.

This year's accumulative figure is slightly behind the 335,300 at this time in the 1974 fair, which suffered attendance losses later in its run because of bad weather.

Natural resources are highlighted at the 1975 fair. Fairgoers can see the drilling of an oil well, working beavers or choose a Christmas tree producer who may display his work at the White House at this year's natural resources exhibit.

Recently, Luther Cline of Roseville restored oil drilling equipment that is on display, including a scale model of a rig built in 1936 that eventually will go to Zane Trace Museum.

It is being displayed along with another drilling rig model that cost $6,000 to build 30 years ago.

"Today they (full size drillers of that type) go for about $88,000," said William Sole of the division of oil and gas in the Department of Natural Resources.

The beavers are in the department's shelter house and part of an all-new exhibit that includes a 6-foot waterfall and tape recordings of bird and animal calls.

On the area's west side, nine Ohio conservation organizations have educational displays. Behind the building, fairgoers can vote for their favorite of 37 Christmas trees grown by members of the Ohio Christmas Tree Growers Association.

The grower whose tree gets the most votes will win the right to enter a tree in national competition, said Mike Reuscher, an intern with the Ohio Forestry Association.

In fair competition, Mary Byers, 17, of Johnstown was chosen queen of the Future Farmers of America. She competed against 151 FFA chapter queens. On Saturday, prominent senior citizen awards will go to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Amos of Portage in Wood County from the Ohio Commission on Aging.

Also Saturday, the Captain and Tennille, the married couple whose recent hit "Love Will Keep Us Together" brought them to national recognition, will appear at the grandstand. On Sunday, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, along with Roy "Dusty" Rogers Jr. and the Sons of Pioneers will give two free shows at the arena.

At the fair on Sunday, Newspaper Carrier's Day, will be a holy mass, pony pull, All-Ohio State Fair Dixieland Band, special rose show judging, wool queen program, horse pull, western square dancing, All-Ohio State Fair Boy's Band, and horse show.

Kissinger assures Syrians

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today assured Syria that his peacemaking efforts include all Middle East issues, including the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights.

The secretary made his declaration on arrival in Damascus from Egypt on his latest round of shuttle diplomacy aimed at an Israeli withdrawal in the Sinai Desert.

Syria's government controlled press has expressed reservations about his step-by-step approach to negotiations, reflecting official fears here that Syrian problems could be neglected once the Sinai accord is concluded.

"I have always said that the United States is dedicated to establishing just and lasting peace in the Middle East, including all issues and all parties concerned," Kissinger said. "We have always considered Syria very important to achieve our goal."

Kissinger was expected to meet with President Hafez Assad and other Syrian leaders before heading on to Jerusalem this evening to continue his mediation between Egypt and Israel. He said before leaving Egypt that he may return to the Middle East next month if he fails to wrap up the Sinai accord on this trip.

He told newsmen in the Mediterranean resort of Alexandria that his talks with President Anwar Sadat had been "very satisfactory."

"Progress has been made," he added. The possibility of another Kissinger trip came up when newsmen asked him if he would return to area to wrap up an agreement after addressing the United Nations General Assembly on Sept. 1 or 2.

Kissinger replied he would if it was necessary.

The secretary of state held a 75-minute meeting with Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy on bilateral relations, including additional foreign aid, a spokesman said.

He then left by helicopter for Gianclis military airport and the flight to Damascus, where he planned to assure Syria that the United States was not ignoring its interests in the Golan Heights.

Kissinger arrived in this Mediterranean resort Friday after opening his latest peace shuttle in talks with the Israeli negotiating team.

He reviewed with Sadat "all of the elements of an interim settlement," State Department spokesman Robert Anderson reported. An Egyptian spokesman said that while "problems still remain," some progress was made.

Newsmen were told that Egypt was seeking an increase in U.S. aid for its ailing economy, and that the Ford administration would ask Congress for a substantial increase over last year's figure of $250 million.

The secretary of state's trip to Damascus comes a day after Syria and Jordan indicated their concern at a possible separate Egyptian-Israeli agreement by forming a "supreme political command" to take political decisions on questions of war and peace. The announcement came at the end of a visit to Syria by Jordan's King Hussein.

The more indicated that Syria's President Hafez Assad has gained Hussein's support to serve notice to the United States that return of the Syrian Golan Heights and the Jordanian West Bank must not be neglected.

However, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said in a television interview he saw "extremely limited room" for an interim pact with Syria and "no room at all" for an agreement with Jordan.

For treason in Greece

Papadopoulos, 2 aides face death sentences

ATHENS (AP) — Former dictator George Papadopoulos and his two closest associates were sentenced to death today after a court convicted them of insurrection and high treason for staging the 1967 army coup that suspended democracy in Greece.

The court also stripped Papadopoulos and his two collaborators, Nicholas Makarezos and Stylianos Patakos, of their officer ranks. They had resigned from active service during the dictatorship years and were receiving their officer's retirement pay.

The court meted out life imprisonment to eight of the defendants. Seven more received prison terms ranging from eight to 20 years.

Two of the 20 former ranking army officers on trial were found innocent. They were Alexander Hadjipetros, a retired lieutenant general who headed the Greek Central Intelligence Agency after the coup, and Constantine Karidas, a former colonel who served in various ministerial posts during the dictatorship years.

The defendants have five days to petition for a retrial from the Supreme Court on the ground of trial irregularities but they cannot appeal against their sentences, a lawyer for one of the convicted men said.

Several of the defendants who received jail sentences smiled. The coup leaders, Papadopoulos, Patakos and Makarezos, sat side by side in the front row of the courtroom, looked straight ahead and showed no emotion.

Earlier, Patakos in a brief statement said: "If my execution or imprisonment serves the interests of the motherland I feel content in the knowledge that there is no value higher than that."

However, the death sentences were not expected to be carried out. Observers said the three coup leaders would likely be reprieved and receive prison terms.

The public prosecutor asked the five-member court to sentence all three to die before a firing squad.

Papadopoulos' closest confidantes at the time of the coup were Stylianos Patakos and Nicholas Makarezos. Both served as deputy premiers during the dictatorship.

The prosecutor asked for the death sentences after the court reconvened following a 45-minute recess to consider the charges.

Of the 20 former ranking army officers on trial for playing key roles in the 1967 coup, two were found innocent of the charges. They were Alexander Hadjipetros, a retired lieutenant general who headed the Greek Central Intelligence Agency after the coup, and Constantine Karidas, a former colonel who served in various ministerial posts during the dictatorship years.

Prosecutor Constantine Stamatis asked the death sentence for the three leaders because they were considered the instigators of the coup. He asked that they be given life imprisonment as well for high treason.

For nine of the defendants he sought life imprisonment for high treason and 10 years for insurrection, while for five others he asked 15 years in jail for high treason and 10 years for insurrection.

He demanded 12 years for high treason and six years for insurrection for the other defendant convicted, Dimitrios Stamatelopoulos, who later broke with Papadopoulos.

The defendants have the right of appeal within five days of sentencing. Court President Ioannis Deyannis said he and his colleagues had rejected the defense contention that insurrection had not been proved, and had decided that the army takeover was a revolution and not a coup that had created its own legal basis.

Patakos, who commanded the tanks during the coup, was unrepentant.

In a brief statement he said: "If my execution or imprisonment serves the interests of the motherland, I feel content in the knowledge that there is no value higher than that."

Other defendants remained silent as they strained to hear the court's verdict.

As the prosecutor issued his demands for sentences, an unidentified relative of one of the defendants fainted in the courtroom.

Kent State panel still deliberating

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The doors were to be open and the lights on early today at the old federal courthouse as jurors labored a second day to reach a verdict in the 1970 Kent State University shootings trial.

The panel of six men and six women received the case just before lunch Friday and worked nearly six hours.

During their first half day of deliberations on the $46 million damages action, the jury called for maps which had been used throughout the 14 weeks of trial but which apparently had not been received as evidence.

The panel also asked for a magnifying glass which had been used to help identify demonstrators and Ohio National Guardsmen in hundreds of photographs of events May 4, 1970.

The jury received the case after the judge instructed them for 2½ hours on the issues in the suit and the law that applied. Later, the jury called for 12 copies of his charge.

The damages were asked by nine students wounded and parents of four students killed when Ohio National Guardsmen opened fire during an attempt to disperse a campus antiwar rally.

The shooting victims and their parents began to arrive at the courthouse about 20 minutes before the jury was expected to break for supper.

When the jury emerged 45 minutes late from its room, escorted by U.S. marshals, it filed down a courthouse corridor lined with plaintiffs and a single defense lawyer. "Strategy," beamed the mother of one victim.

The damages are sought from 29 present or former state officials and guardsmen. The troops were ordered to Kent amidst the fiery destruction of a campus military training center.

Three nights of demonstrations before the day of the shooting were sparked by announcement of the U.S. military excursion into Cambodia.

The jury learned in the judge's charge it would have to decide whether the troops dispersed a peaceable rally, whether the defendants exceeded their legal authority and whether the Guard's crowd-control procedures led inevitably to use of unnecessary lethal force.

The victims claimed they were deprived of their constitutional rights to life, liberty and due process of law and that they were injured recklessly by the defendants, Young said.

The defendants responded that officials acting in the name of the state could not be sued for damages, that the troops acted in self-defense and that the victims contributed to their injuries by acting negligently, the judge told the jury.

"Sympathy has no place in the trial of a lawsuit," Young added, directing the panel to consider the evidence and their common sense in establishing the facts and then to apply the law as he told it to them.

County youth captures safety speaking title

David Louis, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Louis, 3770 White Road, near New Holland, won the state 4-H safety speaking contest at the Ohio State Fair in Columbus on Friday.

Louis, a 1975 graduate of Miami Trace High School, competed against 10 other participants in the senior boys division of the state contest.

"When You're Hot Your Hot" was Louis' topic. His speech dealt with fire safety.

Louis, who won the local contest in Washington C.H. in June and the area contest in July, will now represent the state at the National 4-H Club Congress this fall in Chicago, Ill.

The state 4-H safety speaking contest was sponsored by the Westfield Co. and the Ohio 4-H program.

In other state fair activity Friday, Rusty Coe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Coe, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, exhibited the grand champion crossbred barrow.

Coe will now be entered in the sale of champions which will be held at 3 p.m. Monday on the Ohio State Fairgrounds, according to Jack Sommers, Fayette County 4-H Extension agent.

WCH sets free lunch policy

Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of the Washington C. H. School District, today announced a policy for free meals and free milk for children unable to pay the full price.

"Eligibility determinations are made on a family basis, that is, all the children in the same family attending schools under the jurisdiction of this school food authority receive the same benefits, free meals and free milk," Nestor explained.

He said to receive free meals and free milk, the family income after deductions for special hardship conditions applicable to family size must be equal or less than criteria established by school officials.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels established will be eligible for free meals and free milk. In addition, families not meeting the criteria but with other unusual expenses due to high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses, are also urged to apply, according to Nestor.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility, Nestor said. Applications may be submitted at any time during the school year.

"In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits," the school superintendent noted. "If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk, they should contact the school."

Nestor added that in the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the school's policy, elementary coordinator Lewis M. Parrett will review all applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent, 323 E. Paint St., Washington C. H., for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

Each school and the board of education administrative office has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested person.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size-income criteria for determining eligibility in the free meal program:

Family size	Income scale
2	$4,240
3	$5,250
4	$6,260
5	$7,190
6	$8,110
7	$8,950
8	$9,790
9	$10,550
10	$11,310
12	$12,810

Teen-aged woman fights forest fires from aircraft

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A teen-aged woman has been in the cockpit of aircraft used this summer in battling some of the West's largest forest fires.

It takes strength and lots of concentration, says 19-year-old Megann Streeter, but she says she likes flying the four-engine, DC6 "slurry bombers" better than driving on a highway.

"You've got a job to do just like the men do, and if you can do the job, they don't say much," said the Salt Lake City woman, who flies with a charter airline operated by her father, John Streeter.

"It just takes time ... and age. I started flying when I was 13, and you can't solo until you're 16, can't get a private license until you're 17, or a commercial until you're 18."

She was a copilot on a DC6 used to drop fire retardants on a 13,000-acre fire in the Tonto National Forest of central Arizona and smaller blazes around the state.

Later, she was sent to Southern California when two major fires and a host of smaller ones broke out.

Miss Streeter, who has logged 1,200

air hours and holds a commercial multi-engine pilot's license, says there aren't as many crashes as is popularly believed. She adds, "There aren't as many maniacs in the air as there are on the ground...."

"Flying forest fires tends to be a little more hazardous. You're flying low to the ground, and up canyons."

In a strong wind or an emergency, Miss Streeter said she uses both arms and legs to operate the copilot's controls.

When she's not flying, Miss Streeter often is on one-hour flight standby.

"It's a little hard on dating," she said. "Every time you go out, they call. It's almost guaranteed."

The job has long hours and lots of travel, Miss Streeter said.

"I don't think too many would like it — man or woman," she added.

But there's a special feeling about being airborne.

"It's just kind of a feeling that you're more alone than on the ground," Miss Streeter said. "And you're working with people that know what's going on."

Conflicts of interest eyed in defense pact procurement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is investigating for possible conflicts of interest about 30 instances in which former military procurement officers have gone to work for defense contractors.

A department spokesman confirmed the probe Friday but cautioned, "The fact that we're investigating doesn't necessarily mean we're going to bring any charges."

The spokesman said the investigation could involve cases of "a former military officer in a procurement position going to work for a defense contractor...."

"The possible conflict of interest would arise because of procurement responsibilities they might have had and the similarity to the new responsibilities they carry in their new corporate positions," he said.

The report said Northrop Corp., a prime aerospace contractor, was a prominent employer of former Defense Department employees.

Federal law requires any former Defense Department employee who takes a job with a military contractor to report it during the first three years on the new job. Failure to do so carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Legislation pending in Congress would ban for two years the employment of any federal employee by a company over which he or she had exercised control in the formulation or administration of contracts.

In a related development Friday, the Pentagon announced a new study, "Profit '76," that could increase profits for defense contractors.

The study is of "contractor investment and contribution toward increased productivity and reduced costs on defense contracts."

The spokesman declined to be more specific than "about 30" such cases, but he referred to a recent report by the privately funded Council on Economic Priorities that cited 34 such instances.

Drug law approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A comprehensive new drug law dealing harshly with pushers but more leniently with marijuana users has been signed into law by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Ohio Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, author of the new law, promptly served notice that: "If you push dope in Ohio you're going to jail." The attorney general joined Rhodes for a ceremonial signing of the legislation and news conference Friday.

The new law makes dealing in bulk amounts of hard drugs such as heroin subject to mandatory penalties ranging from three to 10 years, depending on the nature of the offense.

"We are going to put the drug trafficker in prison, period," Brown promised. "He isn't going to get shock parole, shock probation or an early out."

At the same time, light use of marijuana, less than 3½ ounces (100 grams) will be subject to a fine of no more than $100 with no jail time or criminal record. That same maximum penalty would apply even with repeated offenses for less than 100 grams.

"I think it's an area of compassion," Rhodes said of the easing of marijuana penalties. "I don't think it's the user we're after. It's the peddler. The users are addicted. It's an illness rather than a crime."

Voting rights rule 'absurd'

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Nevada wants out from under the new federal Voting Rights Act because of an "absurd" requirement to print ballots in an American Indian language which has no written form.

And Secretary of State Bill Swackhamer also claimed Friday that federal figures on language minorities in Nevada are out of whack with the state's own figures.

High temperatures varied widely across Ohio Friday. Cool temperatures in the northern part of the state in the 70s contrasted with 90s in the south. Youngstown and Cleveland had highs of only 77.

It was 94 in the Cincinnati area and 93 at Columbus.

A few showers dotted the state Friday but were on the order of a few hundredths of an inch. A front across the midsection of Ohio today was expected to move little. Showers and thunderstorms appear likely for all but the southwest corner and there was to be a chance of heavy rains in the north and east parts of the state tonight. High temperatures were forecast in the low 80s northeast to the 90s southwest and lows tonight mostly in the 70s.

The front is forecast to move north of Ohio Sunday and mostly sunny skies and rather warm conditions will spread over the state. The highs Sunday are forecast mostly in the 90s.

Fair Monday and a chance of showers Tuesday or Wednesday. Highs in the 90s Monday lows in the 70s cooling by Wednesday to highs in the 80s lows in the 60s.

Auto layoffs rise due to walkout

DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry layoffs will increase by more than 7,000 next week as General Motors Corp. delays starting 1976 production at four factories because of a strike at the Fisher Body fabricating plant in Lordstown, Ohio.

Some 14,000 hourly workers have been idled as a result of the strike by 2,500 members of United Auto Workers Local 1714, a GM spokesman said. The workers walked off the job July 18 in a dispute over production standards.

The spokesman said a parts shortage caused by the strike has indefinitely delayed newmodel output at assembly plants at Lordstown; Southgate, Calif.; Ste. Therese, Que.; and Scarborough, Ont.

For the industry as a whole, 21,825 workers will be on temporary layoffs next week because of plant shutdowns and 117,060 will be on indefinite layoffs of a total workforce of 702,000.

Last week there were 13,725 temporary layoffs and 102,510 indefinites. The Lordstown car and van lines were to have gone down Aug. 8 for mode changeover and begin 1976 output on Monday. The spokesman said the plant would have to continue 1975-model production for an indefinite period after the strike is settled to use up existing parts inventories before the changeover could begin.

Some 7,300 Lordstown assemblers are idled by the strike.

The other plants shut by the strike already have completed changeovers. Southgate was to begin new-model output on Monday, Ste. Therese on Tuesday and Scarborough on Wednesday.

The spokesman said 2,800 hourly workers are idled at South Gate, 2,900 at Ste. Therese and 1,000 at Scarborough. Subcompact cars and light trucks are assembled at the plants.

GM, which has begun 1976 model production at all its other U.S. assembly plants, also said it expects to reduce the number of indefinite layoffs of hourly workers to 63,000 by the end of the month. About 75,000 of the firm's 400,000 blue collar workers were on longterm furlough at the start of August.

Woman mountie enjoys her work

CHICAGO (AP) — Gillian McLaughlin has been kicked by a horse named Safeguard and ribbed by coworkers for sometimes looking like a man. But she says being Chicago's first mounted policewoman has its advantages, too.

"It's a close-knit bunch and there is no horsing around," said the 26-year-old trainee. "I like the Smokey Bear hat, riding breeches and the rest of the same uniform worn by the men."

The 135-pound brunette spent nine months in a squad car before volunteering for mounted duty. She says that since then, she's had her ups and downs.

"I hope to graduate soon, but I got behind when I was out three weeks with a shoulder injury. I fell under a horse named Safeguard and got kicked," said Miss McLaughlin.

When she finishes training, Miss McLaughlin, who used to take lessons in riding hunters and jumpers, will join 27 men on mounted patrol.

"With my hair done up under my hat I've been mistaken for a man when I'm out riding and that's brought some ribbing," she said.

Being a mountie means dealing with horses as well as people, she said.

"We have 22 horses, and although we all may have favorites, we ride the one that is assigned to us. So we have to put up with a lot of different temperaments of the horses."

"The main thing is to keep the horse calm and under control because there are pressure situations — breaking up crowds, handling traffic and the such. And a horse may get bumped. Some motorists think the horses are raised in front of buses," she said.

Then there's the more personal side to the job.

"Most of my dates are enthusiastic about me becoming a police mountie," she said. "I don't seek their approval, though. They either can accept it or not."

War danger growing

OXFORD, England (AP) — A top strategy expert says the combination of improved weaponry and crumbling alliances has increased the likelihood of wars in the next 15 years.

In a recently concluded 10-day series of lectures at Oxford on European and Atlantic relations, Christoph Bertram said: "The arms of the 1950s and 1960s were more deterrent. In the 1970s and 1980s they are more for use. The big nuclear weapons were uncertain and vulnerable, hard to tailor to precise tasks."

Bertram, a 37-year-old lawyer who worked for a time in the West German defense ministry, is now the director in London of the International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS). The IISS publishes "The Military Balance," the standard annual on the world's armed forces, which is used by officers and diplomats everywhere as the authority on armed strength.

"Now it will soon be possible to land an intercontinental missile in a radius of about 1,000 feet," he said. "More weapons are able to home in on targets."

"The border between normal and nuclear weapons is vaguer. You can put an ordinary explosive on an intercontinental missile, and you can tailor small nuclear weapons to have an effect like a blast of old-fashioned explosive."

"That makes them more flexible and more tempting to use."

The IISS publishes complete revised figures every spring, including manpower, weapons, deployments and assessments of their effectiveness.

State hiring may be probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The hiring and firing practices of Gov. James A. Rhodes administration may come under the scrutiny of the Democratic-controlled state legislature.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, said Friday that he expected to ask for a resolution to create an investigative committee when the legislature reconvenes Sept. 10.

Riffe's disclosure came on the heels of a news conference by Democratic state chairman Paul Tipps who accused the Republican administration of "political and partisan violations of state law and federal regulations."

"The discharge of persons in upper echelons of government is a political fact of life in any new administration," Tipps said. "However, Gov. Rhodes is going too far when he attacks middle management employees, the backbone of the Civil Service system."

Tipps said 8,131 employees had been hired or transferred since Rhodes took office Jan. 13, while "3,000 experienced employees have been, or will be, released, in violation of state Civil Service and federal governmental regulations."

The Dayton Democrat said a number of relatives of prominent Ohio Republicans had been given jobs

"where massive layoffs have taken place, and in some cases they were hired under federal programs designed" for the disadvantaged.

He provided copies of personnel records listing relatives of a department head, a key Rhodes political operative, and the brother of Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio.

"If the information that I have received is accurate, and I'm not saying that it's accurate, but if it is, then there would definitely be violations," Riffe said when asked about the charges.

Horses, not horsepower

Whether or not with tongue in cheek, the U.S. Forest Service has issued an order which may deter quite a few people who have a yen to drive into wilderness areas where motorized vehicles are banned by law. What the Forest Service has in effect said to the men who drove 27 miles into New Mexico's Gila

Wilderness was: You can't drive back out.

A party's three four-wheel vehicles were stranded by high waters, and the men — leaving two women and two children with the vehicles — hiked out for help. Horses were used to rescue the women and children. Horses or mules, the Forest Service has decreed, must be used to haul out the vehicles. Why? Because there would be a "further violation of regulations should the machines be driven out under their own power."

Would-be motor excursionists in federal wilderness areas please note.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 24

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Even though a Sunday, you may be able to complete a transaction which enhances security. A friend versed in the law could be of great help.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

The accent now is on social activity. Welcome the opportunity to meet people, make new friends, perhaps make contacts which could prove invaluable, business-wise.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Change, variety and travel are highlighted in your chart. You may have to make some adjustments in your life, but the challenge should prove interesting.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Join forces with an individual who has dynamic, original ideas. An Aries or Leoite could fill the bill. You often have great ideas but need a bit of a push to put them over.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

An unusual request deserves your consideration. Fulfilling it may involve some inconvenience, but you will be amply repaid. Late hours bring some surprising news.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

There may be some conflict between desire and necessity. Be realistic, as the Virgoan usually is, and the answer will come. Romance and travel favored.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Avoid overexertion and excitement; make no unnecessary changes in smooth-running projects. Romance and family interests in special planetary favor.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Better than some days, less smooth other others. Strive with the best intent and only good can come of it. Believe, with strong faith, in your teamwork with others.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Neither look for trouble nor believe it won't come just because you look the other way. Face up to situations and you won't fool yourself or find problems as difficult to solve.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good planetary influences will help those of you who remain in form and are ready to handle everyday obligations as well as new matters which always seem to come as a "surprise."

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't lose confidence in your ability to produce the results you want — even if temporarily stymied. Keep trying. Some dandy advantages on your side.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

There's a tendency now to act without thinking, then ask yourself the "whys" of failure. Map out a workable program BEFORE starting. Also, taking note of new trends. Good results for like effort.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an engaging personality and are highly gregarious by nature. The Virgoan is idealistic and sometimes suffers needlessly when others do not live up to his lofty standards. You have a great love of home and family and, though you enjoy travel, are happier in your own surroundings. You are extremely versatile; would make a good banker, journalist, real estate operator, confidential secretary or diplomat; would be happiest, however, in work which requires careful research and meticulous attention to detail — as in science. Try to curb tendencies to be overly critical and exacting with loved ones and associates.

MONDAY, AUGUST 25

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Planetary influences only fairly generous, so you will have to provide your own momentum to carry on now. Neither too many problems nor much opposition indicated, however.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

A beneficent Venus stimulates all your innate artistry. Even your most "offbeat" ideas could now prove feasible.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Look deeply into all the situations. Surface appearances could be misleading. Using that innate foresight of yours, however, you shouldn't have much trouble in spotting flaws.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Benign aspects now favor business and financial matters. A good day for planning for the future. Don't hope to gain by taking short-cuts, however.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A vital period! Most endeavors should prosper, but think before you speak or act. Above all, avoid tendencies toward the unorthodox; to extremes, in general.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A stimulating day! Step forth, assert yourself with confidence, bargain astutely, and tackle anything you know to be within your capabilities.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Control your imagination while you also develop its tremendous potentials for furthering your advancement. Don't let random ideas lead you out of bounds.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Your outlook not entirely auspicious. Contention may pop up in the least expected places. Exercise restraint, put forward your very best manner and good will to counteract.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Not much planetary help here but, using your abilities to the utmost, you can make a go of the day on your own. And a good go it can be!

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Your fine mind and keen perception should assist you in even the most difficult endeavors. If you don't stray off course, you can REALLY achieve now.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Be ready to face competition. You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead. Easy does it!

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good period for tackling jobs that require patience and a steady hand.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a lively outlook on life; you are keen-minded, remarkably intuitive, perceptive and practical. You are more meticulous about handling details than those born under most Signs, and your integrity is outstanding. You have a great love of knowledge and never stop trying to accumulate more than you have. If you can curb a tendency to be overexact with those under your supervision, you would make an excellent teacher, but many other fields are suited to your wealth of talents, notably: science, literature, music, the stage, medicine and the law.

Bobbies seek tough new laws

LONDON (AP) — Britain's police are calling for tougher laws to combat a "frightening" increase in crime.

"Society is beginning to accept law-breaking as a way of life," said Sgt. Leslie Male, chairman of the Police Federation which represents 100,000 policemen. "Public reaction is, 'But what can be done?' What can be done is for the laws of this country to be changed and to beat the criminal and punish him more severely."

The federation said in a statement that more than 2 million crimes are now being recorded in Britain annually, an eightfold increase in the last 35 years. It said more criminals now use guns and more police officers are being attacked than ever before.

"Last year one in 10 police officers was assaulted and the trend is increasing," the statement said. "If police officers are assaulted at this rate, what does the future hold for the average member of society?"

The federation called for more policemen, more prisons, more jail sentences instead of fines, more powers for magistrates and a new law making parents responsible for their children's misdeeds.

Law aids wheelchair victims

By ROBERT E. MILLER

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's 25,000 wheelchair victims are the beneficiaries of a state law that becomes effective today, although another broader statute designed to help all handicapped persons in the state awaits action by one house of the legislature. Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, sponsored the new law which says any street curbing under construction or planned in the future in municipalities and townships must have ramps at least 40 inches wide and be built with a nonskid surface.

There must be a ramp at each crosswalk that meets the specifications already in effect for state building entrances. The Department of Transportation set the specifications under federal guidelines.

Meshel said compliance with the specifications will qualify local communities for federal funds to pay the cost of construction.

Although Columbus and many other communities have installed ramps already on their own volition, hundreds of communities throughout the state have not. Meshel claimed his bill will "greatly facilitate the mobility of wheelchair-bound individuals."

Meshel, who earlier this year introduced the bill which became effective today as part of a legislative package, also wants to put into the statute books a bill of rights for all handicapped Ohioans, not just those confined to wheelchairs.

In the waning days of this year's legislative session, he won 32-20 Senate approval of his broader bill which protects citizens from discrimination stemming from their handicaps. It is scheduled to receive House consideration when the legislators convene their 1976 session, probably in January.

That measure bans discrimination in employment when a person is otherwise qualified for a job, housing, insurance coverage and the use of public accommodations.

In addition, the legislation would require special driver education courses for the handicapped and provide parking areas for them near the entrances of public buildings.

Voter polling places would have to have special accommodations for the handicapped by 1980 and the Department of Transportation would be directed to adopt rules to facilitate the use of mass transit systems by the handicapped in the future.

OSU program given law enforcement grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has awarded a $155,917 grant to the Ohio State University Program for the Study of Crime and Delinquency to evaluate rehabilitation programs for adult felons.

The grant will fund a six-month national study of the cost, effectiveness and value of such residential inmate programs as halfway houses and community reintegration centers, said Dr. Harry E. Allen, program director.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Private eye nice, but won't marry one

DEAR ABBY: I just met a very attractive man. (I'm divorced, and he has never been married.)

My problem is that he is a private detective, and I just can't see myself married to a man who makes his living snooping around, spying on people, following them and eavesdropping on their conversations.

He told me a little about his line of work, and at first I was fascinated, but after a while I started to wonder what kind of a man would do that for a living.

I like his personality, and he treats me like a queen, but his profession bothers me.

Am I wrong to feel the way I do?

FUSSY
DEAR FUSSY: I imagine there are many women who would think a private detective's work is very glamorous and exciting. But if it bothers you, turn him loose.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem—a lazy wife. When I get home after a hard day's work, I would like to have a tasty, home-cooked meal, but instead, I get one of those pre-cooked, frozen TV dinners.

She's sly about it, too. She puts the TV dinner on another plate and tries to pass it off as something she cooked herself. I know they're TV dinners because I've seen the boxes in the garbage can.

My wife doesn't work outside the house, so it's not as though she doesn't have time to make something from scratch.

I don't want to tell her that I am on to her tricks because she's a very sensitive person, and I hate to hurt her feelings. What should I do?

LOSING PATIENCE
DEAR LOSING: Maybe she's not lazy but lacks confidence in her ability to cook. Suggest that she enroll in a cooking class. (The local YWCA probably offers courses.) The squeaking wheel gets the grease, so squeak up!

DEAR ABBY: I remarried a few years ago. My husband and I were both born in Canada, but our parents' nationalities are different.

Whenever we go out among his family or friends, he speaks in the tongue of his parents, although they can all speak English well enough.

I can't understand their language, so I sit for hours like a dummy, while they laugh and chatter away.

I think it is rude for them to talk in a language that I can't understand. All they say to me is "Hello" and "Goodbye."

I have told my husband how I feel about this, and he says I am silly.

Am I wrong to feel out of place and hurt? And have you any suggestions for me?

OUT OF IT AT 40
DEAR OUT: You say your husband's friends and family can all "speak English well enough" but persist in talking a language that is foreign to you when you are in their presence. If none speaks to you in English, you're being deliberately tuned out. If I were you, I'd stay home.

CONFIDENTIAL TO W. IN

SCHENECTADY: Most things that seem too good to be true aren't. Don't rush into anything.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, August 23, the 235th day of 1975. There are 130 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1775—200 years ago—King George III of England proclaimed that there was open rebellion in the American Colonies.

On this date: In 1500, Christopher Columbus was accused of mistreating natives in Haiti. He was arrested and ordered sent back to Spain in chains.

In 1869, followers of Mary Baker Eddy obtained a charter in Lynn, Mass. to organize the Church of Christ, Scientist.

In 1914, Japan declared war on Germany in the World War I.

In 1937, Japanese military forces landed at the Chinese city of Shanghai.

In 1944, Allied troops fighting in France in World War II captured the port of Marseille.

In 1947, an audience of 15,000 at the Hollywood Bowl heard President Harry Truman's daughter, Margaret, give her first public concert as a singer.

Ten years ago: A U.S. Marine Corps transport plane crashed into the bay off Hong Kong shortly after taking off for South Vietnam, killing 58 Marines.

Five years ago: Israel named Foreign Minister Abba Eban as its chief envoy to proposed Middle East peace talks.

One year ago: Pan American World Airways appealed to the U.S. government for a monthly cash subsidy to stave off what it called an imminent financial crisis.

Thought for today: Idealism is the noble toga that political gentlemen drape over their will to power — Novelist Aldous Huxley, 1894-1963.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, a Western Massachusetts expert on Canada advised that the rebellious American Colonists should invade Canada, to prevent the British from regaining control of Lake Champlain.

Area beef outlook meet September 3

BY JOHN P. GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Future prospects in the beef industry will be the main topic of discussion for the Washington C. H. Area Beef Outlook meeting, Wednesday, September 3. The Fayette County Cattlemen will be hosting the 10 county activity to be held in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

A charcoal broiled steak dinner with all the trimmings at 6 p.m. will get the program underway.

Two authorities in the area of beef marketing will be on hand to discuss the factors influencing the cattle market. Dr. Wally Barr, extension economist at the Ohio State University, and John Bricker, manager of Producers Livestock Association, will be on hand to share their predictions. They will discuss and answer your questions on prospects for the beef business in the immediate future, and months ahead. All phases of the industry will be highlighted.

The meeting is open to all folks involved in the beef industry including consumers. If you are a cattlefeeder, a feed supply, farm lender, market representative or consumer of beef you will want to attend this meeting for an up to date report.

Advanced registration to guarantee your steak is needed by Wednesday, August 27. Cost per person is $5 and reservations can be made by contacting the Fayette County Extension office. (335-1150).

Washington C. H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 4

Soybean convention attended by Wilson

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Hugh Wilson of Washington C.H. was among 145 voting delegates from 25 states attending the 55th annual convention of the American Soybean Association (ASA) in Memphis, Tenn. recently.

A highlight of the convention was a panel discussion on the quality of U.S. soybean exports. Foreign importers, a domestic exporter, a USDA official and an Iowa soybean producer were on the panel.

Among their recommendations were: (1) to develop soybean varieties for high oil or protein content and to make such content a part of the grading standard, (2) to devise and implement methods of reducing damage to soybeans during handling and transport, (3) to provide better means of verifying quality of beans upon arrival in foreign ports, (4) to create incentives for keeping beans at low moisture levels, (5) to trade No. 1 soybeans in both domestic and international trade, and (6) to change the allowable level of foreign matter in No. 2 beans from two per cent to one per cent, especially since Brazilian soybeans are exported on basis of one per cent foreign matter.

ASA President W.B. Tilson of

Plainview, Tex., spoke to delegates on ASA's "Heritage of Leadership," theme of the 1975 convention.

Tilson said that qualities of the men who led the American Revolution — independence, courage and foresight — are the same qualities that have made ASA a leader in the field of agriculture.

He noted, for example, that soybean farmers were the first to contribute their own funds toward foreign market development programs.

"Because their leadership had foresight," he said, "soybean farmers were the first to reap the benefits of market expansion overseas."

Another key speaker was J.E. Randag of The Netherlands, president of the International Association of Seed Crushers, who spoke on the world oilseed supply-and-demand situation.

Randag said better soybean yields are the key to improving the soybean's position in an increasingly competitive world market.

Only by increasing yields can farmers absorb their rising production costs and, at the same time, reduce soybean prices enough to compete with palm oil and other major competitors, he said.

Witchweed may spread to Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers have been warned to be on the look out for witchweed, a parasitic plant that can destroy corn, sorghum and other grasses.

Although witchweed has never been seen in the Midwest, the Ohio Department of Agriculture said it is beginning to bloom in the Carolinas and could spread north.

Harold L. Porter, chief of ODA's plant industry division, said the weed has two main identifying characteristics. "It blooms bright red or sometimes yellow from mid-July to the first frost," he said. "If you spot the flowers, feel the stems. Square, slightly hairy stems indicate the possibility of witchweed."

Porter said the plant should never be pulled to make identification. He said that would spread the seeds and there may be as many as 50,000 on one plant.

Disaster benefits explained

"Farmers whose crops have been destroyed or damaged by a disaster such as a drought, flood, or hail storm may be eligible for disaster payments," George Speakman, chairman of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said. Payments are made for prevented planting and low yields.

"Prevented planting means that a farmer is unable to plant because a severe natural disaster or other condition beyond the farmer's control occurring at planting time, prevented him from planting at anytime during the planting period. Low yield is when a disaster seriously affects the potential yield of a crop after planting," Speakman explained.

If farmers suffer a loss of any or all of their crop acreage and do not intend to carry it through to harvest, they must report the loss to the county ASCS office before disposing of the crop residue. Also, the farm must be checked by an appraiser to determine potential production prior to disposition of the crop residue. Speakman pointed out that farmers should be prepared to provide certification of the affected crop acreage.

"If the crop is carried through to harvest and the total production is substantially below normal because of disaster conditions, farmers should report this loss within 15 days after harvest is completed and before destroying evidence of the crop damage. We want farmers to know that we do compensate for the loss of crops due to disaster if they report it," Speakman said.

The ASCS spokesman explained that disaster payments are intended only to provide some relief to farmers whose cropland is so affected by disaster that they receive little or no income from production of the crop.

The disaster payment provision of the 1975 Wheat, Feed Grain and Upland Cotton Program is authorized by the 1973 Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act.

Participation in the Wheat, Feed Grain and Upland Cotton Programs is open to all farmer regardless of race, color, creed, sex or national origin.

Air crash kills Cincy teen-ager

HILLIARD, Fla. (AP) — A Cincinnati, Ohio, teen-ager was killed Friday and his father and step-brother injured when a small plane crashed as it took off minutes after making an emergency landing in a field, officers said.

The victim was identified as 16-year-old James Mathews. His father, Judge William Mathews, 49, of the Common Pleas Court in Cincinnati, was reported in serious condition at a local hospital.

Judge Mathews' step-son, David Montgomery, 14, was reported in satisfactory condition.

The trio had just taken off from a local airport to fly home when Mathews sent an SOS saying he was low on fuel and had to land within five minutes, the Florida Highway Patrol said.

The plane was easily landed in a field about four miles northeast of this small city in North Florida near Jacksonville, troopers said. But within minutes Mathews took off again, only to have the plane slam into trees at the edge of the pasture and nosedive to the ground, officers said.

"He told me he seemed to be short on fuel, landed in the pasture, switched to another fuel tank, then tried to take off, and crashed," Trooper Peter Cooper said.

Lordstown accord set

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— United Auto Workers will decide Sunday whether to ratify a tentative settlement in the strike at the General Motors Corp. plant here.

The pact between UAW Local 1714 and management was reached Friday. About 2,000 local member struck the Fisher Body Fabricating Plant here July 18 in a dispute over production standards.

Lack of parts from the plant then forced the closing of the adjacent Vega-Astre and van assembly line plants, idling a total of about 10,000 workers.

John Barbara, local president, said that picket lines will continue until the 11 a.m. ratification vote Sunday.

Production standards involve how fast an employee is expected to work and the number of pieces he is expected to assemble per hour. Barbara said the union thought its members were being asked to work too fast.

We are now offering, with the purchase of a Case 2470 or 2670 4-wheel drive, a FREE 3 point hitch. (Limited offer) See us for details.

Marriage vows exchanged in double ring ceremony

First Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Chris Oates, daughter of Mrs. Shirley Oates of 514 E. Market St. and Paul Adams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adams Sr., Rt. 2, Candelabra and vases of flowers enhanced the altar. The Rev. Conrad Bower and Rev. Ralph Wolford performed the wedding ceremony.

Miss Debbie Wonderleigh, vocalist, sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Wedding Prayer." Mrs. Rosalie Stackhouse, grandmother of the groom, was the organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ron Oates, the bride wore a taffeta gown with chiffon overlay, with high slash collar and front lace insert at the bodice. The empire waisted gown and the skirt flared to a flowing train in the back. A deep flounced ruffle of chiffon with tiny red rosebuds trimmed with lace, accented the gown. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Maid of honor Miss Rajean Keiser wore a blue floral gown with chiffon overlay. The gown had a square lace neckline, and bodice and high waistband on the gathered skirt. She carried a single white rose. The other attendants, Linda Oates, sister of the bride, Connie Adams of Summit Station, Karen Warner and Susan Wilson, both of Washington C.H., Teresa McDonald of Jeffersonville, all wore gowns styled like the honor attendant, except with blue bodice. Each carried a single red rose.

Mrs. Oates chose for her daughter's wedding a pink floor-length dress. The bodice of beige lace topped the flared skirt which had a deep ruffle at the hemline. The dress had full sleeves with French Cuffs. The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow halter dress topped with a chiffon floral print jacket.

Shari Oates, sister of the bride, was the flower girl, and Scott Eggleton, nephew of the groom, was the ringbearer. Don and Mark Oates, brothers of the bride, lighted the candles on the altar.

Roger Eggleton, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Lonny Adams, brother of the groom, Cecil Carter, Dan Lowe, Don Robinette, Tom Payton, Greer Bower and Kevin Stockwell.

Hostesses for the reception which followed were Mrs. Roger Eggleton, Miss Lynn Fichner and Miss Laurie Lisk.

The new Mrs. Adams is a 1975 Washington Senior High School graduate, and her husband, a 1973 Miami Trace High School graduate, is employed by Bruce Paint Co.

The couple is residing at Lot 37, Prairie Rd., following a trip to the Smokies.

Local florist returns from Honolulu

Marilyn Achor, district representative for Flowers by Marilee, attended the 1975 Convention of Florists' Transworld Delivery Association, held at the Hilton Hawaiian Village Hotel, Honolulu, Hawaii, Aug. 2-7.

Highlights of the Convention included the FTD Annual Members' Meeting at which Association business was transacted, and election of new national officers.

Florists' Transworld Delivery Association is a cooperative association, owned and operated by over 14,000 retail florist members in North and South America. Through the FTD service, and the service of its international affiliate Interflora, flowers-by-wire can be sent practically anywhere in the world.

Untreated mild hypertension (high blood pressure) can substantially lower life expectancy, according to Dr. Karl Engelman. The University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine professor recently cited statistics showing a 35-year-old man might expect to live until age 76½. But with a blood pressure reading of 150-100, he could only expect to live until age 60 if his hypertension is left untreated.

Miss Barker, Mr. Linthicum married in Bookwalter

The Bookwalter Church of Christ in Christian Union was the Aug. 2 setting for the marriage of Miss Treva Barker to Randy Linthicum. The Rev. Wayne Knisley performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Barker Sr. of Jeffersonville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Linthicum, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

Candles and two floral arrangements of white carnations and daisies adorned the altar.

Mrs. Peggy Snyder, vocalist, accompanied herself at the organ.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white bridal gown with Venice lace trim on the high collar, and the empire bodice was sprinkled with seed pearls. Her full A-line skirt and long sheer sleeves also had with matching lace and the flowing chapel train had Venice lace petals. She carried a colonial arrangement of yellow carnations and daisies accented with baby's breath and matching ribbon.

Miss Wilma Boysel served as bridesmaid, and wore a formal length gown of pink lace with long sheer matching headpiece.

Melanie Linthicum presided at the guest book.

Robin Penson served as best man and Lloyd Andrews and David Miller were the ushers.

Mrs. Barker chose a long green floral gown with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow carnations and baby breath. The groom's mother wore a peach formal length dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow carnations with baby's breath.

A reception for the couple took place in the Bookwalter Township House. The bride's table featured a tiered wedding cake frosted in yellow with white flowers. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Lee Campbell, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Marvin Barker, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Kinnison, a friend.

Both the new Mr. and Mrs. Linthicum are graduates of Miami Trace High School. He is engaged in farming. They are residing at Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

State office tower proves to be gigantic headache

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's new State Office Tower is causing giant headaches for state officials.

It's tenants don't have enough money to pay their rent, and the $83 million structure remains totally in hock.

State officials say the problem must be solved soon to protect the Workmen's Compensation Fund, which loaned the money to build the 41-story edifice across the street from the Statehouse.

The current crisis involves a foulup among state biennial budget planners, who requested only $15.4 million for rents of state agencies that occupy the building. Actual need for the two-year period is $25.5 million, based on a recent audit of the Ohio Building Authority by Arthur Anderson & Co., reported Dana Stewart, executive director of the OBA.

The OBA financed the giant project after entering into a contract with the Workmen's Compensation Fund, which represents employer assessments used to take care of Ohio's injured workers.

No rents have been paid by tenants since July 1 and Stewart said the shortage this year alone is about $4 million. OBA will need an additional $6 million when the first payment on the loan's principal — $3 million — comes due April 16, 1976.

The problem has been made worse by the refusal of some state agencies to move into tower space that had been reserved for them. They include the auditor's office and the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

In addition, the Legislative Budget Office said in a memo to the Senate Finance Committee that someone, in effect, goofed in calculating the number of gross square feet that are in the building.

It said two service floors "were apparently left out of the original calculation."

The rent in the structure is high, about $16.50 a square foot, including maintenance and operating costs the tenants have to pay. Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson found space a half block away from the tower for $9.60 a square foot.

Administrative Services Director Richard L. Krabach, who acts as tower landlord and turns the rents over to the OBA, disputed Ferguson's claim that his refusal to occupy tower space would save taxpayer money.

"He isn't saving anything," said Krabach. "The taxpayer has got to pay for this building one way or another."

Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said he agreed with Krabach completely.

"There's no way that the taxpayers won't have to pay the debt, and we've got to protect the integrity of the workmen's fund," Meshel said.

The Youngstown lawmaker said no one in the administration called the problem to his attention when the finance committee was considering the state budget during the month of June.

Stewart said he tried to see Meshel, as well as House Finance Chairman

Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, before the budget bill was enacted, but was unable to do so.

Meshel confirmed he had failed to return at least one phone call from Stewart but blamed it on the hectic pace of the legislature in the days before the $10.6 billion spending bill was passed.

The senator noted that Howard L. Collier, director of the Office of Budget and Management, didn't mention the problem when he came before the committee "with 40 or 50 amendments."

Meshel stressed that he was not being critical of Collier, and noted the latter's statement that no one in the budget office was aware until the building authority submitted a bill July 1 for $11.1 million. Officials expected the 1975 rent to be $7.7 million.

Meshel said the Legislative Budget Office memo, dated June 9, was lost in the shuffle of budget deliberations.

"I didn't read it," he said. "I didn't see it."

Krabach said the Rhodes administration would like to see the building refinanced with revenue bonds so that the high interest of the workmen's compensation loan can be paid off.

Under the law, OBA has to receive interest equal to an amount the fund could have earned by investing its reserves on the commercial market. The rate currently is 8.6 per cent, but can be renegotiated every two years.

The administrative services director said the state could refinance the tower over a 30-year period at interest rates now running about 6 per cent, if the $2.75 million capital improvements bond issue passes on the November ballot.

Meshel discounted the possibility that the State Controlling Board might bail out the tower, at least for this year, noting that the legislature appropriated only $4.9 million in unearmarked money for the board's emergency fund for the entire 1975-1977 biennium.

The finance chairman said, "We've got a problem all right. I don't know where we can find the money."

The situation probably will be called to the attention of the legislature when it returns Sept. 10 for a 1975 cleanup session, he said.

Investors having second thoughts

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—To judge by the stock market's behavior lately, American investors are having some somber second thoughts about the economic outlook they viewed so optimistically only a few months ago.

In a vivid contrast to its 300-point rise from early December through July 15, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials has fallen 87.55 points in a little more than a month.

The slide dragged the closely watched indicator down 14.24 points on Tuesday and another 15.25 Wednesday, leaving it at 793.26 — its first close below 800 since April 11.

Other market measures have shown equal or even sharper pullbacks.

The list of reasons given by market-watchers for the apparent change of heart is substantial:

—Resurgent inflation, as evidenced not only by stepped-up rates of increase in the government's consumer and wholesale price indices, but also by recent boosts in a broad range of basic commodities and materials — like steel, aluminum, wheat and gasoline.

—Rising interest rates, which add to the cost of living and of doing business, and at the same time tend to drain money from the stock market into interest-bearing investments, like bonds.

—Doubts about the economy's ability to mount a sustained recovery from the recession, especially if inflation disrupts the spending plans of businesses and consumers.

—The much-publicized financial problems of New York City, and their potential impact on all the investors who own the city's securities, including the country's biggest banks.

Many market analysts insist that the declines of late can still be looked on as a normal period of retrenchment — a "correction" in Wall Street parlance — after the prolonged and powerful rally of the first six months this year.

"All year long we've been expecting a correction," observed Kenneth W. Johnson, research director at the Minneapolis-based brokerage firm Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood.

"And the longer it was put off, the larger it was likely to be."

It is also widely argued that the market will have to go down a good deal more before anyone can conclude that investors have given up on their hopes for a rebound from the recession.

Pirates turn table on Reds

By BRUCE LOWITT

AP Sports Writer

The red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates? The slumping Cincinnati Reds? Wait a minute? Shouldn't that be the other way around?

Maybe a week ago, when the Pirates were stumbling through a six-game losing streak—four of them in Cincinnati—and the Reds were on a nine-game winning spree.

But not any more. It's what you call your basic about-face. Both are on four-game streaks—but it's the Bucs who are winning and the Reds who are losing.

"I think our slump is over. We're aggressive again at the plate," Dave Parker said Friday after his dramatic two-run homer in a four-run eighth inning catapulted the Pirates to a 4-2 victory and a two-night doubleheader sweep of the Reds. Two-run singles by Craig Reynolds and Rennie Stennett in a five-run sixth inning and Richie Zisk's two homers carried Pittsburgh to a 7-2 victory in the opener.

The twin-killing of the Reds widened the Pirates' National League East lead to 1½ games over Philadelphia, which edged San Diego 6-5. In the rest of the league, Atlanta defeated St. Louis 9-5, New York beat San Francisco 6-4, Montreal trimmed Los Angeles 3-1 in 12 innings and Chicago downed the Astros 6-5 in 11.

"We've had troubles, but we're getting it back together," said Parker. "And the big guy, meaning Willie Stargell, says he'll be back in the lineup Monday, so that's good news."

Stargell, recovering from a cracked rib, was out of the lineup during the Bucs' recent 2-12 road trip. "Maybe it's best that we got it out of our system then," he said.

Phil's 6, Padres 5
Mike Schmidt's two-run homer in the ninth inning vaulted the Phillies past San Diego and kept them within striking distance of the Pirates. Dick Allen, who had homered earlier, doubled with one out before Schmidt sent his 29th homer into the left field bleachers.

Braves 9, Cardinals 5
Rookie Rob Belloir drove in four runs, two with a single in a six-run sixth inning, to lead Atlanta past St. Louis and drop the third-place Cards four games back of the Pirates.

Mets 6, Giants 4
The Mets gave Tom Seaver a five-run lead in the first inning and he needed all of them to become the first 18-game winner in the league. Rusty Staub's two-run homer highlighted the burst that kept fourth-place New York from falling more than 5½ games back of the Bucs.

Expos 3, Dodgers 1
Larry Parrish's two-run homer in the 12th inning boosted Montreal over the Dodgers. Al Downing walked Mike Jorgensen before Parrish slugged his eighth homer of the year. Ron Cey's 16th homer gave Los Angeles the lead in the seventh inning but the Expos tied it in the ninth on Nate Colbert's third homer.

Cubs 6, Astros 5
An error and Jose Cardenal's bunt single gave the Cubs two 11th-inning runs and their victory over Houston. Cesar Cedeno's single had given the Astros a 5-4 lead in the top of the 11th. But a pair of walks and second baseman Ken Boswell's miscue tied it again, then Cardenal dumped his game-winning bunt.

Orioles 8, Rangers 5
Elrod Hendricks hit a two-run homer to key a four-run third inning and Don Baylor hit a two-run shot in the fifth as the Orioles remained 6½ games behind Boston in the AL East. Hendricks, the first man to face reliever Clyde Wright in the third, hit his sixth home run of the season after Tony Muser's single had given the Orioles a 3-2 lead.

Indians 9, Royals 5
George Brett's throwing error gave Cleveland two of its four first-inning runs and the Indians held on to beat Kansas City, dropping the Royals seven games behind rained-out Oakland in the AL West. Rick Manning was safe on Cookie Rojas' error and scored on George Hendrick's double.

Yankees 5, Angels 2
Chris Chambliss drove in three runs with his eighth homer and a single and Catfish Hunter won his 17th game with a five-hitter. Chambliss, who delivered New York's first run with a fourth-inning single, belted his eighth home run after Thurman Munson opened the seventh with a double off Ed Figueroa.

Geronimo shows off surprising arm

PITTSBURGH (AP)—If Cesar Geronimo occasionally surprises opposing runners with the accuracy of his arm, the Cincinnati Reds centerfielder admits they are no more surprised than he is.

He recalled one occasion before he turned professional when he was playing in a pickup game on a field that had no fence.

In deepest centerfield, there were some guava trees and the batter hit the ball over Geronimo's head.

"I just ran and ran," recalled Geronimo. "The ball went behind the trees before I picked it up. I don't know how far it was."

"All I know is I turned around and threw. I didn't know where it would go. I couldn't even see the infield because of the trees."

Where the ball went was to third base on one bounce, retiring a runner who was too surprised to slide.

"I once threw Cesar Cedeno out from 385 feet away and I didn't mean to," added the Reds outfielder, who threw out Willie Davis of the St. Louis Cardinals earlier this week when he was trying to score from second on a single. "I was in the Dominican Republic. He was on first base and the ball was hit to the wall in left center.

"I ran over, got the ball and turned to throw. I was throwing the ball to third base, to try and get the man who hit it. But the ball somehow slipped out of my hand. It went right to home plate. One bounce and Cedeno was out."

Was Geronimo surprised. "Yes," he admitted, "but you should have seen Cedeno."

Hegwood wins Grand AM shoot

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — A 47-year-old silver-haired former Air Force pilot, entered in the Grand American Trapshooting Tournament for the first time, walked off with the top prize Friday.

Wayne Hegwood of Jackson, Miss., won a shootoff with Carter Black of Shelbyville, Ky., to capture the Grand American Handicap, trapshooting's biggest event.

Hegwood, among the last on the firing line of the 3,725 shooters entered in the handicap, shattered 99 targets from 20 yards to tie Black, who was one of the first participants and had to wait all day to see if anyone was going to match his score.

In the shootoff, Hegwood broke 23 of 25 targets to 22 by the Kentuckian. After his victory, Hegwood, who said he had accomplished his feat with his father's squirrel gun, grinned and declared, "I feel the Lord was on my side."

A friend said, "His best score before today was an 88, and the only thing he ever won was Class B trophy down in Mississippi." Hegwood agreed, but admitted he has been shooting more this year than ever before.

Hegwood is an electrical contractor and the father of three daughters. Defeat was bitter for Black, 42, who has been unable to work since he was shot by a handgun in 1973.

Braves make WCC playoffs

The Braves nudged out the Dodgers and the Reds for first place honors in the third and final round of the Friday Men's Golf League at the Washington Country Club.

The Braves, Allen Willoughby, Ralph Hyer, Ernst Stanforth, and Paul Maughmer; were one point behind the Dodgers going into Friday's final nine-holes, and they won 17 points to move to the top of the standings.

The Reds, who won the first-round title, finished second as the Dodgers wound up third.

The Braves won the second-round as well as the third and the four-man team will meet the Reds in a league championship playoff next week.

Willoughby fired a 37 to take top honors on the day while Jim Polk of the Dodgers and John Scott of the Yankees carded 38's.

Sellout seen for Bengals' exhibition

CINCINNATI (AP)—A sellout crowd of more than 50,000 is expected tonight when the Cincinnati Bengals make their home debut with a preseason exhibition with the Green Bay Packers.

The Packers are unbeaten in two games under freshman Coach Bart Starr who led the Pack to five world titles as the team's quarterback.

Cincinnati, 2-1 in exhibition, is hoping its untracked offense which rolled up 38 points last week against Buffalo, can prove itself against the traditionally tough Green Bay Defense.

Bengals Coach Paul Brown named veteran running back Essex Johnson to start for the first time this season and Johnson, who signed a waiver against liability for permanent damage, said he is looking forward to the start.

Cincinnati agreed to let Johnson, who holds most Cincinnati rushing records, to return only after signing the waiver.

Team physicians said prior to the season that Johnson's injured knee could be permanently damaged if he continues to play.

Rookie running back Willard Harrell is the Packers' leading running back with 88 yards in 22 carries.

Starr said he was very conscious of his first game against 40-year veteran Coach Paul Brown.

Miami U. favored to win MAC title

OXFORD — Tied for the longest unbeaten streak among major college football teams in the nation, Miami University opens fall practice with 85 candidates expected to report for physical examinations Saturday.

Heavy two-day sessions with pads start Thursday as the Redskins prepare for their season-opener at home against Marshall, Sept. 13.

Beginning his second season, Coach Dick Crum will have 28 lettermen back, including 11 starters. Unbeaten in their last 23 games, the Redskins are two-time defending Mid-American Conference and Tangerine Bowl champions.

Miami and Oklahoma are both tied for the longest unbeaten streaks at 23, and the Redskins will also be after their 33rd consecutive non-losing season, second only to Penn State's 35.

Last year Miami became the first MAC team to rank among the top 10 in the nation. The final polls had the Redskins ranked 10th by Associated Press, United Press International and the Football News.

Miami was the heavy pre-season pick of both the MAC football coaches and the MAC News Media Association. The Redskins were selected first on five of the nine coaches' ballots and 57 of the 67 news media ballots. Bowling Green, Kent State and Central Michigan were the other league teams receiving first-place votes.

"We certainly should be a contender," stated Coach Crum. "We have good personnel returning and should be in the title race." The Redskins should be even stronger in the offensive backfield and just as strong along the defensive line. However, Miami will be weaker to begin with on the offensive line and defensive backfield due to inexperience according to Coach Crum.

Returning in the offensive backfield will be last year's three top ground gainers in quarterback Sherman Smith, tailback Rob Carpenter and wingback Randy Walker.

Walker, a 5-8, 200-pound senior, was the leading rusher last season with 873 yards in 214 carries and scored four touchdowns at the tailback position. "He is a very versatile player and we feel we can take advantage of this with him at the wingback position," said Crum.

Carpenter, a 6-1, 214-pound junior, makes the switch from fullback to tailback this season. "We use our tailback a lot in our style of offense and we want to take advantage of Carpenter's size and speed," remarked Crum. Last year Carpenter led the team in scoring with 13 touchdowns, gained 656 yards in 139 carries and caught 12 passes for 125 yards.

Back for his fourth year of calling signals will be Smith, a 6-4, 217-pounder. Last year he gained 711 yards in 161 carries, scored seven touchdowns, completed 22 of 42 passes for 218 yards and four touchdowns and even caught three passes for 51 yards. "Smith is a big quarterback that loves to run with the ball, but can also be a threat through the air," stated Crum.

"He has the experience and maturity so that the rest of the team looks up to him. We will be quarterback oriented with our offensive attack."

The two biggest holes to fill on offense come along the offensive line and

MIKE DOMENICO — Former All-Ohio pick with the Washington Blue Lions in 1972, Domenico will be sharing the duty with Randy Gunlock this season for the Miami U. Redskins. The 6'-1", 210-pound junior is one of two, two-year lettermen returning for offensive line duty this season.

the kicking game. Miami lost its five all-MAC players in tackle Mike Biehle, guards Pat Kief and Chuck Miller, placekicker Dave Draudt and punter Jeff Rowlands. "We feel we have potentially good replacements along the line and we have several top kickers in our freshmen group," stated Coach Crum.

Defensively the Redskins have lost All-America middle guard Brad Cousino, linebacker Chuck Varner, ends Brad Miller and Jay Fry and backs John McVay and Joe Spicer. Jeff Kelly, who was a second-team all-MAC defensive tackle last year, is being switched to middle guard. Replacing Kelly will be Joe Hasenohrl.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

Just as the funeral is a ceremony where none is invited but all may attend, so is the condolence or sympathy visit. It is often most helpful to the bereaved. Friends should avoid the mistaken belief that the mourner prefers to be alone. Pain suffered in solitude is heavier to bear than pain which is shared.

Respectfully,

Richard Kirkpatrick

Opening lead — Five of spades.

After the basic elements of handling the cards have been mastered, the single most important aspect of the play of the hand is counting.

Although the numbers seldom exceed 13, counting does require a sincere effort and is therefore one of the areas most often neglected by the casual bridge player.

This hand played some time ago at the Washington Duplicate Bridge Club serves as a fine example. On the bidding shown, North-South arrived at four spades doubled. Although the three heart bid and the final double were a bit unorthodox, East-West can take nine tricks in hearts and can defeat a spade game if declarer misguesses the heart situation.

West led a spade, and declarer played a second round, to the dummy. A small diamond was led to the queen and ace, and West returned a diamond which declarer ruffed.

A club was led to the king and a second club was ducked into the West hand. Declarer took the club return and let a spade to dummy to discard a small heart on the last club. He then led the jack of hearts from the board.

East saved declarer a lot of worry about the heart position by stepping up with the ace. Everyone knows how bad it feels to have an ace ruffed the second round, but let's try a little counting.

EAST KNEW that declarer began with only one diamond. When partner showed out on the third round of spades, South could be credited with exactly six. Declarer is also known to have started with exactly three clubs. He must, therefore, have begun with three hearts and have two remaining.

If South holds two small hearts, or the king-queen, East's play does not matter. In the actual case, if East plays low, declarer will have a difficult decision to make.

South is likely to make the right guess, at least half the time. When he does, East will have gained nothing.

What is important, however, is that by counting declarer's hand East determines that playing low can never cost anything, but could gain trick.

Half a chance is better than none.

Bill Horne and Bill Horne Jr. topped all comers during play Tuesday night at the Washington Inn.

Mrs. Charles Fabb and Mrs. Grove Davis placed second. In third place were Mrs. William Bourke and Mrs. Eber Coil.

The second place finish by Mrs. Fabb enabled her to recapture the lead in the point competition.

Complications After Surgery

For years, a great deal of attention has been paid to methods by which complications after surgery can be avoided.

A clot in the lungs is a serious problem. Almost always it originates when a small piece of a blood clot in a vein in the leg breaks off, circulates in the body and is finally trapped in the lung.

A substance, heparin, is being used in an effort to prevent clots, or thrombosis, in the deep veins of the legs and the lungs.

A great number of patients have been given small doses of heparin prior to surgery with excellent results. The reports now indicate that this drug will be valuable in patients past the age of 40 who are about to have major abdominal surgery.

The original studies were made by Dr. Vigay Kakkar of Kings College Hospital in London. There is greater and greater acceptance of this pre-operative type of medication.

One never knows through which door knowledge will walk. A study of the mountain laurel flower turns out to be a possible new approach to the control of certain kinds of cancer in experimental animals.

Dr. John M. Edwards, at the University of Storrs in Connecticut, has been purifying chemicals that have been extracted from this flower and another wild flower, the bluebell.

It seems that some substances within the flowers can actually reduce the size of tumors in animals.

Soon the exact chemicals will be pinpointed and synthesized so that expanded studies can be programmed in laboratories all over the country.

Women who have tried repeatedly to become pregnant but have not been successful in holding on to the fetus may soon have an important form of treatment.

Dr. Herbert W. Horne and his co-workers at the Boston Hospital for Women have found that an organism, mycoplasma, may be the hidden source of spontaneous abortion.

Dr. Horne has been using a special type of antibiotic, declomycin, to destroy the T-strain mycoplasma. This has materially reduced the number of cases of interrupted early pregnancy.

It is a concept that will be watched with great interest.

Statistical flukes turning up

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Those things called statistical flukes seem to be turning up everywhere, upsetting our notion of things economic, undermining our hopes, misleading our forecasters.

A fluke is the all-purpose alibi, serving economists in the same way that a "freak disturbance" provides the weather forecaster with what seems to be an explanation for his own poor performance.

Is the nation's balance of payments situation improving or deteriorating? It's hard to tell; something's fluky. As measured by the net liquidity balance, payments showed a $1.2 billion surplus in the June quarter. That represented a deterioration from the first-quarter surplus of $2.9 billion.

Measured by the official reserve transactions basis, payments showed a $1.6 billion deficit, but that was an improvement from the $3.3 billion deficit registered in the first quarter.

Perhaps not to be placed in the category of fluke, but too important to ignore in any compilation of misleading indicators, is the latest report on retail sales.

In July, sales rose 2.4 per cent to $49.97 billion from $48.76 billion in June. It was the largest one-month increase in a year, and put revenues 7.8 per cent above the year-earlier figure of $46.36 billion.

You may conclude from this that sales are spurring. And you may draw the conclusion that the nation is moving up out of the recession.

However, those figures really show that sales volume declined. If sales were to show a gain they would have to come to a total at least 9.5 per cent higher than the year before to compensate for the rise in consumer prices.

Criticism of the jobless figures reported by Washington also seems to be growing because of what could be a very serious error of methodology that undoubtedly will be passed off as a fluke.

Doubts about the reliability of the unemployment figures arise from the practice of dropping from the labor force figure individuals who have become so discouraged that they no longer look for work.

First National City Bank economists are warning Americans not to become too optimistic over a drop in joblessness to 8.4 per cent in July because it could be temporary.

When the economy begins to improve, they say, discouraged dropouts might re-enter the work force. A goodly number will fail to obtain jobs immediately, and thus will be added to the jobless rolls.

Sindlinger & Co., a polling and research firm, goes so far as to suggest that most of the improvement in the unemployment rate this year can be attributed to this situation.

Albert Sindlinger, president of the firm, says it is unlikely that the correction will show up in August unemployment figures. But he suggests the nation might be in for a shock on or about Oct. 6, when the September figures are released.

Sindlinger, who maintains that unemployment was above 11 per cent in July — that is, counting individuals the government drops from its calculations — insists the government is erring, not just flunking.

Once you bring me home, I'm yours forever. Even if I'm burned. Or lost. Or stolen.

If you look for me and can't find me, just report it. And you'll get me back, as good as new.

And remember: I'll never break your heart. Or leave you stranded in the tight spots.

I'll always be there when you need me. And that ought to make you feel pretty secure.

INJURY ACCIDENT — Cars driven by James A. Heath, 21, of 6 Royal Court, and David R. Phillips, 20, of Dorthea Drive, collided at the intersection of Washington Avenue and Clearview Drive at 1:45 a.m. Saturday. Both drivers and Heath's passenger, Bruce Messner, 20, Bloomington, sustained injury and were treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Charges are expected to be filed.

Three hurt in city mishap

Three area men were injured in a two-car accident at 1:45 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of Washington Avenue and Clearview Road.

Washington C.H. police officers reported a car driven by James A. Heath, 21, of 6 Royal Court, turned left from Washington Avenue onto Clearview Road in front of an oncoming auto driven by David R. Phillips, 20, of Dorthea Drive. The collision resulted in severe damage to both autos and injury to the drivers. A passenger riding with Heath, Bruce Messner, 20, Bloomington, also sustained injury. The three were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by ambulance where they were treated and released. A failure to yield right of way charge is expected to be filed against Heath and an expired operator's license charge is expected to be filed against Phillips, police officers reported today.

Three additional accidents were investigated by police Friday and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department cited a Leesburg man for a traffic infraction which resulted in an accident.

A rear-end collision at 8:07 p.m. Friday, on Columbus Avenue, near S. Elm Street involved cars driven by Yvonne Detweiler, 33, of 148 Eastview Drive, and Kenneth L. Ford, 20, of 425 W. Circle Ave. Police reported the accelerator pedal stuck on the Detweiler auto. Neither driver was injured.

A second rear-end collision occurred at 6:30 p.m. Friday when a car driven by Stephen J. Ford, 18, Rosewood, collided with the rear of a car driven by Martha L. Bonham, 27, of Ohio 41-S, at the intersection of Hinde and Court streets. Police reported damage as slight.

A passenger in a car owned by Stephen Greer, 606 N. North St., Michael R. Greer, 8, same address, opened the Greer car door into a car driven by Ramay J. Storm, 45, of 618 S. Fayette St., while Mrs. Storm was pulling into a parking space in Kroger's parking lot, Clinton Avenue, at 10:06 p.m. Friday. Damage was minor according to police estimates.

A rear-end collision on Prairie Road, eight-tenths of a mile north of the Bloomington-New Holland Road intersection, at 3:20 p.m. Friday involved cars driven by Mark V. Gilbert, 16, Bloomington, and Jerry N. Alfrey, 32, Leesburg. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported the Gilbert auto slowed to turn into a private driveway and the Alfrey auto couldn't stop in time. After the initial impact Alfrey's car traveled left of center into the roadside ditch. He was cited by deputies for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. Damage was moderate to both vehicles.

Police officers probe theft of three radios

Three citizens band radios were stolen Friday, Washington C.H. police reported today along with a bicycle larceny and three stolen flower pots.

A CB radio valued at $150 belonging to Mike Maust, 920 Forest St., was stolen from his truck parked in front of his residence sometime Friday. A coat hanger was used to break into the vehicle, police reported.

Square dance set Labor Day

A western style square dance, sponsored by the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society, will be held from 7 until 10 p.m. on Labor Day, Sept. 1 at the Food World parking lot, 1122 Columbus Ave.

There is no admission charge for the event which will be featuring the Shooting Stars square dancing group from Washington C.H. In case of rain, the dance will be held at Eastside Elementary School, 506 S. Elm St.

The callers will be Doc Richards, Curley Roe and Chester Howell, all of Washington C.H.

Association names local chiropractor

Dr. James J. McCracken of 205 N. Fayette St., has been selected for membership in the American Chiropractic Association.

As a member of the ACA, Dr. McCracken joins thousands of fellow doctors of chiropractic, all dedicated to improving general health care.

Dr. McCracken is a 1975 graduate of National College of Chiropractic located at Lombard, Illinois. He and his wife, Susan reside in Washington C.H.

Membership dues support major programs of chiropractic education and research, and provide materials for use in public education and vocational guidance.

The announcement of Dr. McCracken's selection was made by Dr. William H. Dallas, president of the American Chiropractic Association.

Car fire probed

An auto driven by Marvin McRobie, 822 E. Paint St., burst into flames under the hood at 3926 Prairie Road, at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Washington C.H. firemen were summoned to the scene, but the fire was out upon their arrival. They estimated $50 damage and reported the car was owned by Knisley Pontiac, Columbus Avenue.

DEPUTIES DISPERSE — Fayette County sheriff's deputies and auxiliary officers depart from the downtown area following a disturbance at 1:30 a.m. Saturday. A number of auxiliary officers from both the Washington C.H. police and Fayette County sheriff's departments were called to duty to quell the disturbance.

Eleven persons arrested on 14 charges

Riot act invoked following downtown area disturbance

The riot act was read to some 100 persons in the downtown Washington C.H. area early Saturday which resulted in the arrest of nine area men and two area women on charges of failure to disperse, disorderly conduct and interference with arrest.

Washington C.H. Police Chief Rodman Scott reported two initial incidents which caused patrons from local taverns to fill the streets, creating a need for all available police officers and Fayette County sheriff's deputies and auxiliaries from both departments to be called in for duty to help quell the disturbance.

At 1:15 a.m. Washington C.H. Police Specialist William Cales heard a disturbance behind the Emerald Inn on S. Fayette Street and observed Chester T. Steed, 41, of 738 Eastern Ave., take a swing at an unidentified man. Spec. Cales intervened and charged Steed with disorderly conduct. Shortly after, Police Ptl. Larry Mongold was in the 200 block of E. Court Street writing a parking ticket when he heard Wendell S. Hyer, 25, of 1005 Millwood Ave., yell something and walk into the H and H Tavern. Ptl. Mongold charged Hyer with disorderly conduct. Hyer stated he was greeting a friend further down the street.

These two incidents caused tavern patrons to fill the streets blocking traffic as the crowd moved down N. Fayette Street to police headquarters, yelling and screaming and making abusive remarks about police, Chief Scott explained.

Individual related incidents reported by police involved the arrest of Norbert Kent, Sharon Justice and Jay Garringer. Kent 19, of 5000 Ohio 41-N, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and failure to disperse when he refused to move, according to police. When the arrest was made, Sharon Justice, 19, of 608 Carolyn Rd., attempted to pull Kent away from officers and was arrested and charged with interfering with arrest.

Jay L. Garringer, 22, of 224 N. North St., sustained injury when he resisted

Fair attendance ahead of pace

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State Fair attracted 172,510 visitors Friday, pushing attendance for the 1975 exposition ahead of the record pace set two years ago.

Officials said attendance for the first two days of the fair was 330,122, compared with the two-day total of 320,603 in 1973, when a record 2,223,589 persons attended the 12-day extravaganza.

This year's accumulative figure is slightly behind the 335,300 at this time in the 1974 fair, which suffered attendance losses later in its run because of bad weather.

Natural resources are highlighted at the 1975 fair. Fairgoers can see the drilling of an oil well, working beavers or choose a Christmas tree producer who may display his work at the White House at this year's natural resources exhibit.

Recently, Luther Cline of Roseville restored oil drilling equipment that is on display, including a scale model of a rig built in 1936 that eventually will go to Zane Trace Museum.

It is being displayed along with another drilling rig model that cost $6,000 to build 30 years ago.

"Today they (full size drillers of that type) go for about $88,000," said William Sole of the division of oil and gas in the Department of Natural Resources.

The beavers are in the department's shelter house and part of an all-new exhibit that includes a 6-foot waterfall and tape recordings of bird and animal calls.

On the area's west side, nine Ohio conservation organizations have educational displays. Behind the building, fairgoers can vote for their favorite of 37 Christmas trees grown by members of the Ohio Christmas Tree Growers Association.

The grower whose tree gets the most votes will win the right to enter a tree in national competition, said Mike Reuscher, an intern with the Ohio Forestry Association.

In fair competition, Mary Byers, 17, of Johnstown was chosen queen of the Future Farmers of America. She competed against 151 FFA chapter queens.

On Saturday, prominent senior citizen awards will go to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Amos of Portage in Wood County from the Ohio Commission on Aging.

Also Saturday, the Captain and Tennille, the married couple whose recent hit "Love Will Keep Us Together" brought them to national recognition, will appear at the grandstand. On Sunday, Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, along with Roy "Dusty" Rogers Jr. and the Sons of Pioneers will give two free shows at the arena.

At the fair on Sunday, Newspaper Carrier's Day, will be a holy mass, pony pull, All-Ohio State Fair Dixieland Band, special rose show judging, wool queen program, horse pull, western square dancing, All-Ohio State Fair Boy's Band, and horse show.

Kissinger assures Syrians

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today assured Syria that his peacemaking efforts include all Middle East issues, including the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights.

The secretary made his declaration on arrival in Damascus from Egypt on his latest round of shuttle diplomacy aimed at an Israeli withdrawal in the Sinai Desert.

Syria's government controlled press has expressed reservations about his step-by-step approach to negotiations, reflecting official fears here that Syrian problems could be neglected once the Sinai accord is concluded.

"I have always said that the United States is dedicated to establishing just and lasting peace in the Middle East, including all issues and all parties concerned," Kissinger said. "We have always considered Syria very important to achieve our goal."

Kissinger was expected to meet with President Hafez Assad and other Syrian leaders before heading on to Jerusalem this evening to continue his mediation between Egypt and Israel.

He said before leaving Egypt that he may return to the Middle East next month if he fails to wrap up the Sinai accord on this trip.

He told newsmen in the Mediterranean resort of Alexandria that his talks with President Anwar Sadat had been "very satisfactory."

"Progress has been made," he added.

The possibility of another Kissinger trip came up when newsmen asked him if he would return to area to wrap up an agreement after addressing the United Nations General Assembly on Sept. 1 or 2.

Kissinger replied he would if it was necessary.

The secretary of state held a 75-minute meeting with Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy on bilateral relations, including additional foreign aid, a spokesman said.

He then left by helicopter for Gianclis military airport and the flight to Damascus, where he planned to assure Syria that the United States was not ignoring its interests in the Golan Heights.

Kissinger arrived in this Mediterranean resort Friday after opening his latest peace shuttle in talks with the Israeli negotiating team.

He reviewed with Sadat "all of the elements of an interim settlement," State Department spokesman Robert Anderson reported. An Egyptian spokesman said that while "problems still remain," some progress was made.

Newsmen were told that Egypt was seeking an increase in U.S. aid for its ailing economy, and that the Ford administration would ask Congress for a substantial increase over last year's figure of $250 million.

The secretary of state's trip to Damascus comes a day after Syria and Jordan indicated their concern at a possible separate Egyptian-Israeli agreement by forming a "supreme political command" to take political decisions on questions of war and peace. The announcement came at the end of a visit to Syria by Jordan's King Hussein.

The more indicated that Syria's President Hafez Assad has gained Hussein's support to serve notice to the United States that return of the Syrian Golan Heights and the Jordanian West Bank must not be neglected.

However, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said in a television interview he saw "extremely limited room" for an interim pact with Syria and "no room at all" for an agreement with Jordan.

For treason in Greece

Papadopoulos, 2 aides face death sentences

ATHENS (AP) — Former dictator George Papadopoulos and his two closest associates were sentenced to death today after a court convicted them of insurrection and high treason for staging the 1967 army coup that suspended democracy in Greece.

The court also stripped Papadopoulos and his two collaborators, Nicholas Makarezos and Stylianos Patakos, of their officer ranks. They had resigned from active service during the dictatorship years and were receiving their officer's retirement pay.

The court meted out life imprisonment to eight of the defendants. Seven more received prison terms ranging from eight to 20 years.

Two of the 20 former ranking army officers on trial were found innocent. They were Alexander Hadjipetros, a retired lieutenant general who headed the Greek Central Intelligence Agency after the coup, and Constantine Karidas, a former colonel who served in various ministerial posts during the dictatorship years.

The defendants have five days to petition for a retrial from the Supreme Court on the ground of trial irregularities but they cannot appeal against their sentences, a lawyer for one of the convicted men said.

Several of the defendants who received jail sentences smiled. The coup leaders, Papadopoulos, Patakos and Makarezos, sat side by side in the front row of the courtroom, looked straight ahead and showed no emotion.

Earlier, Patakos in a brief statement said: "If my execution or imprisonment serves the interests of the motherland I feel content in the knowledge that there is no value higher than that."

However, the death sentences were not expected to be carried out. Observers said the three coup leaders would likely be reprieved and receive prison terms.

The public prosecutor asked the five-member court to sentence all three to die before a firing squad.

Papadopoulos' closest confidantes at the time of the coup were Stylianos Patakos and Nicholas Makarezos. Both served as deputy premiers during the dictatorship.

The prosecutor asked for the death sentences after the court reconvened following a 45-minute recess to consider the charges.

Of the 20 former ranking army officers on trial for playing key roles in the 1967 coup, two were found innocent of the charges. They were Alexander Hadjipetros, a retired lieutenant general who headed the Greek Central Intelligence Agency after the coup, and Constantine Karidas, a former colonel who served in various ministerial posts during the dictatorship years.

Prosecutor Constantine Stamatis asked the death sentence for the three leaders because they were considered the instigators of the coup. He asked that they be given life imprisonment as well for high treason.

For nine of the defendants he sought life imprisonment for high treason and 10 years for insurrection, while for five others he asked 15 years in jail for high treason and 10 years for insurrection.

He demanded 12 years for high treason and six years for insurrection for the other defendant convicted, Dimitrios Stamatelopoulos, who later broke with Papadopoulos.

The defendants have the right of appeal within five days of sentencing.

Court President Ioannis Deyannis said he and his colleagues had rejected the defense contention that insurrection had not been proved, and had decided that the army takeover was a revolution and not a coup that had created its own legal basis.

Patakos, who commanded the tanks during the coup, was unrepentant.

In a brief statement he said: "If my execution or imprisonment serves the interests of the motherland, I feel content in the knowledge that there is no value higher than that."

Other defendants remained silent as they strained to hear the court's verdict.

As the prosecutor issued his demands for sentences, an unidentified relative of one of the defendants fainted in the courtroom.

Kent State panel still deliberating

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The doors were to be open and the lights on early today at the old federal courthouse as jurors labored a second day to reach a verdict in the 1970 Kent State University shootings trial.

The panel of six men and six women received the case just before lunch Friday and worked nearly six hours.

During their first half day of deliberations on the $46 million damages action, the jury called for maps which had been used throughout the 14 weeks of trial but which apparently had not been received as evidence.

The panel also asked for a magnifying glass which had been used to help identify demonstrators and Ohio National Guardsmen in hundreds of photographs of events May 4, 1970.

The jury received the case after the judge instructed them for 2½ hours on the issues in the suit and the law that applied. Later, the jury called for 12 copies of his charge.

The damages were asked by nine students wounded and parents of four students killed when Ohio National Guardsmen opened fire during an attempt to disperse a campus antiwar rally.

The shooting victims and their parents began to arrive at the courthouse about 20 minutes before the jury was expected to break for supper.

When the jury emerged 45 minutes late from its room, escorted by U.S. marshals, it filed down a courthouse corridor lined with plaintiffs and a single defense lawyer. "Strategy," beamed the mother of one victim.

The damages are sought from 29 present or former state officials and guardsmen. The troops were ordered to Kent amidst the fiery destruction of a campus military training center.

Three nights of demonstrations before the day of the shooting were sparked by announcement of the U.S. military excursion into Cambodia.

The jury learned in the judge's charge it would have to decide whether the troops dispersed a peaceable rally, whether the defendants exceeded their legal authority and whether the Guard's crowd-control procedures led inevitably to use of unnecessary lethal force.

The victims claimed they were deprived of their constitutional rights to life, liberty and due process of law and that they were injured recklessly by the defendants, Young said.

The defendants responded that officials acting in the name of the state could not be sued for damages, that the troops acted in self-defense and that the victims contributed to their injuries by acting negligently, the judge told the jury.

"Sympathy has no place in the trial of a lawsuit," Young added, directing the panel to consider the evidence and their common sense in establishing the facts and then to apply the law as he told it to them.

At Ohio State Fair

County youth captures safety speaking title

David Louis, son of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Louis, 3770 White Road, near New Holland, won the state 4-H safety speaking contest at the Ohio State Fair in Columbus on Friday.

Louis, a 1975 graduate of Miami Trace High School, competed against 10 other participants in the senior boys division of the state contest.

"When You're Hot Your Hot" was Louis' topic. His speech dealt with fire safety.

Louis, who won the local contest in Washington C.H. in June and the area contest in July, will now represent the state at the National 4-H Club Congress this fall in Chicago, Ill.

The state 4-H safety speaking contest was sponsored by The Westfield Co. and the Ohio 4-H program.

In other state fair activity Friday, Rusty Coe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Coe, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, exhibited the grand champion crossbred barrow.

Coe will now be entered in the sale of champions which will be held at 3 p.m. Monday on the Ohio State Fairgrounds, according to Jack Sommers, Fayette County 4-H Extension agent.

WCH sets free lunch policy

Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent of the Washington C. H. School District, today announced a policy for free meals and free milk for children unable to pay the full price.

"Eligibility determinations are made on a family basis, that is, all the children in the same family attending schools under the jurisdiction of this school food authority receive the same benefits, free meals and free milk," Nestor explained.

He said to receive free meals and free milk, the family income after deductions for special hardship conditions applicable to family size must be equal or less than criteria established by school officials.

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels established will be eligible for free meals and free milk. In addition, families not meeting the criteria but with other unusual expenses due to high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, and disaster or casualty losses, are also urged to apply, according to Nestor.

Application forms are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility, Nestor said. Applications may be submitted at any time during the school year.

"In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits," the school superintendent noted. "If a family has foster children living with them and wishes to apply for such meals and milk, they should contact the school."

Nestor added that in the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color or national origin.

Under the provisions of the school's policy, elementary coordinator Lewis M. Parrett will review all applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the official, he may make a request either orally or in writing to Edwin M. Nestor, superintendent, 323 E. Paint St., Washington C. H., for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

Each school and the board of education administrative office has a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by any interested person.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size-income criteria for determining eligibility in the free meal program:

Family size	Income scale
1	$3,230
2	$4,240
3	$5,250
4	$6,260
5	$7,190
6	$8,110
7	$8,950
8	$9,790
9	$10,550
10	$11,310
12	$12,810

High temperatures varied widely across Ohio Friday. Cool temperatures in the northern part of the state in the 70s contrasted with 90s in the south. Youngstown and Cleveland had highs of only 77.

It was 94 in the Cincinnati area and 93 at Columbus.

A few showers dotted the state Friday but were on the order of a few hundredths of an inch. A front across the midsection of Ohio today was expected to move little. Showers and thunderstorms appear likely for all but the southwest corner and there was to be a chance of heavy rains in the north and east parts of the state tonight. High temperatures were forecast in the low 80s northeast to the 90s southwest and lows tonight mostly in the 70s.

The front is forecast to move north of Ohio Sunday and mostly sunny skies and rather warm conditions will spread over the state. The highs Sunday are forecast mostly in the 90s.

Fair Monday and a chance of showers Tuesday or Wednesday. Highs in the 90s Monday lows in the 70s cooling by Wednesday to highs in the 80s lows in the 60s.

Auto layoffs rise due to walkout

DETROIT (AP) — Auto industry layoffs will increase by more than 7,000 next week as General Motors Corp. delays starting 1976 production at four factories because of a strike at the Fisher Body fabricating plant in Lordstown, Ohio.

Some 14,000 hourly workers have been idled as a result of the strike by 2,500 members of United Auto Workers Local 1714, a GM spokesman said. The workers walked off the job July 18 in a dispute over production standards.

The spokesman said a parts shortage caused by the strike has indefinitely delayed newmodel output at assembly plants at Lordstown; Southgate, Calif.; Ste. Therese, Que.; and Scarborough, Ont.

For the industry as a whole, 21,825 workers will be on temporary layoffs next week because of plant shutdowns and 117,060 will be on indefinite layoffs of a total workforce of 702,000.

Last week there were 13,725 temporary layoffs and 102,510 indefinites. The Lordstown car and van lines were to have gone down Aug. 8 for mode changeover and begin 1976 output on Monday. The spokesman said the plant would have to continue 1975-model production for an indefinite period after the strike is settled to use up existing parts inventories before the changeover could begin.

Some 7,300 Lordstown assemblers are idled by the strike. The other plants shut by the strike already have completed changeovers. Southgate was to begin new-model output on Monday, Ste. Therese on Tuesday and Scarborough on Wednesday.

The spokesman said 2,800 hourly workers are idled at South Gate, 2,900 at Ste. Therese and 1,000 at Scarborough. Subcompact cars and light trucks are assembled at the plants.

GM, which has begun 1976 model production at all its other U.S. assembly plants, also said it expects to reduce the number of indefinite layoffs of hourly workers to 63,000 by the end of the month. About 75,000 of the firm's 400,000 blue collar workers were on longterm furlough at the start of August.

Woman mountie enjoys her work

CHICAGO (AP) — Gillian McLaughlin has been kicked by a horse named Safeguard and ribbed by coworkers for sometimes looking like a man. But she says being Chicago's first mounted policewoman has its advantages, too.

"It's a close-knit bunch and there is no horsing around," said the 26-year-old trainee. "I like the Smokey Bear hat, riding breeches and the rest of the same uniform worn by the men."

The 135-pound brunette spent nine months in a squad car before volunteering for mounted duty. She says that since then, she's had her ups and downs.

"I hope to graduate soon, but I got behind when I was out three weeks with a shoulder injury. I fell under a horse named Safeguard and got kicked," said Miss McLaughlin.

When she finishes training, Miss McLaughlin, who used to take lessons in riding hunters and jumpers, will join 27 men on mounted patrol.

"With my hair done up under my hat I've been mistaken for a man when I'm out riding and that's brought some ribbing," she said.

Being a mountie means dealing with horses as well as people, she said.

"We have 22 horses, and although we all may have favorites, we ride the one that is assigned to us. So we have to put up with a lot of different temperaments of the horses."

"The main thing is to keep the horse calm and under control because there are pressure situations — breaking up crowds, handling traffic and the such. And a horse may get bumped. Some motorists think the horses are raised in front of buses," she said.

Then there's the more personal side to the job.

"Most of my dates are enthusiastic about me becoming a police mountie," she said. "I don't seek their approval, though. They either can accept it or not."

War danger growing

OXFORD, England (AP) — A top strategy expert says the combination of improved weaponry and crumbling alliances has increased the likelihood of wars in the next 15 years.

In a recently concluded 10-day series of lectures at Oxford on European and Atlantic relations, Christoph Bertram said: "The arms of the 1950s and 1960s were more deterrent. In the 1970s and 1980s they are more for use. The big nuclear weapons were uncertain and vulnerable, hard to tailor to precise tasks."

Bertram, a 37-year-old lawyer who worked for a time in the West German defense ministry, is now the director in London of the International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS). The IISS publishes "The Military Balance," the standard annual on the world's armed forces, which is used by officers and diplomats everywhere as the authority on armed strength.

"Now it will soon be possible to land an intercontinental missile in a radius of about 1,000 feet," he said. "More weapons are able to home in on targets."

"The border between normal and nuclear weapons is vaguer. You can put an ordinary explosive on an intercontinental missile, and you can tailor small nuclear weapons to have an effect like a blast of old-fashioned explosive."

"That makes them more flexible and more tempting to use."

The IISS publishes complete revised figures every spring, including manpower, weapons, deployments and assessments of their effectiveness.

State hiring may be probed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The hiring and firing practices of Gov. James A. Rhodes administration may come under the scrutiny of the Democratic-controlled state legislature.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, said Friday that he expected to ask for a resolution to create an investigative committee when the legislature reconvenes Sept. 10.

Riffe's disclosure came on the heels of a news conference by Democratic state chairman Paul Tipps who accused the Republican administration of "political and partisan violations of state law and federal regulations."

"The discharge of persons in upper echelons of government is a political fact of life in any new administration," Tipps said. "However, Gov. Rhodes is going too far when he attacks middle management employees, the backbone of the Civil Service system."

Tipps said 8,131 employees had been hired or transferred since Rhodes took office Jan. 13, while "3,000 experienced employees have been, or will be, released, in violation of state Civil Service and federal governmental regulations."

The Dayton Democrat said a number of relatives of prominent Ohio Republicans had been given jobs

Teen-aged woman fights forest fires from aircraft

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A teen-aged woman has been in the cockpit of aircraft used this summer in battling some of the West's largest forest fires.

It takes strength and lots of concentration, says 19-year-old Megann Streeter, but she says she likes flying the four-engine, DC6 "slurry bombers" better than driving on a highway.

"You've got a job to do just like the men do, and if you can do the job, they don't say much," said the Salt Lake City woman, who flies with a charter airline operated by her father, John Streeter.

"It just takes time ... and age. I started flying when I was 13, and you can't solo until you're 16, can't get a private license until you're 17, or a commercial until you're 18."

She was a copilot on a DC6 used to drop fire retardants on a 13,000-acre fire in the Tonto National Forest of central Arizona and smaller blazes around the state.

Later, she was sent to Southern California when two major fires and a host of smaller ones broke out.

Miss Streeter, who has logged 1,200

air hours and holds a commercial multi-engine pilot's license, says there aren't as many crashes as is popularly believed. She adds, "There aren't as many maniacs in the air as there are on the ground...."

"Flying forest fires tends to be a little more hazardous. You're flying low to the ground, and up canyons."

In a strong wind or an emergency, Miss Streeter said she uses both arms and legs to operate the copilot's controls.

When she's not flying, Miss Streeter often is on one-hour flight standby.

"It's a little hard on dating," she said. "Every time you go out, they call. It's almost guaranteed."

The job has long hours and lots of travel, Miss Streeter said.

"I don't think too many would like it — man or woman," she added.

But there's a special feeling about being airborne.

"It's just kind of a feeling that you're more alone than on the ground," Miss Streeter said. "And you're working with people that know what's going on."

Conflicts of interest eyed in defense pact procurement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is investigating for possible conflicts of interest about 30 instances in which former military procurement officers have gone to work for defense contractors.

A department spokesman confirmed the probe Friday but cautioned, "The fact that we're investigating doesn't necessarily mean we're going to bring any charges."

The spokesman said the investigation could involve cases of "a former military officer in a procurement position going to work for a defense contractor...."

"The possible conflict of interest would arise because of procurement responsibilities they might have had and the similarity to the new responsibilities they carry in their new corporate positions," he said.

The report said Northrop Corp., a prime aerospace contractor, was a prominent employer of former Defense Department employees.

Federal law requires any former Defense Department employee who takes a job with a military contractor to report it during the first three years on the new job. Failure to do so carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Legislation pending in Congress would ban for two years the employment of any federal employee by a company over which he or she had exercised control in the formulation or administration of contracts.

In a related development Friday, the Pentagon announced a new study, "Profit '76," that could increase profits for defense contractors.

The study is of "contractor investment and contribution toward increased productivity and reduced costs on defense contracts."

The spokesman declined to be more specific than "about 30" such cases, but he referred to a recent report by the privately funded Council on Economic Priorities that cited 34 such instances.

Horses, not horsepower

Whether or not with tongue in cheek, the U.S. Forest Service has issued an order which may deter quite a few people who have a yen to drive into wilderness areas where motorized vehicles are banned by law. What the Forest Service has in effect said to the men who drove 27 miles into New Mexico's Gila

Wilderness was: You can't drive back out. A party's three four-wheel vehicles were stranded by high waters, and the men — leaving two women and two children with the vehicles — hiked out for help. Horses were used to rescue the women and children. Horses or mules, the Forest Service has decreed, must be used to haul out the vehicles. Why? Because there would be a "further violation of regulations should the machines be driven out under their own power." Would-be motor excursionists in federal wilderness areas please note.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Even though a Sunday, you may be able to complete a transaction which enhances security. A friend versed in the law could be of great help.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

The accent now is on social activity. Welcome the opportunity to meet people, make new friends, perhaps make contacts which could prove invaluable, business-wise.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Change, variety and travel are highlighted in your chart. You may have to make some adjustments in your life, but the challenge should prove interesting.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Join forces with an individual who has dynamic, original ideas. An Arien or Leoite could fill the bill. You often have great ideas but need a bit of a push to put them over.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

An unusual request deserves your consideration. Fulfilling it may involve some inconvenience, but you will be amply repaid. Late hours bring some surprising news.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

There may be some conflict between desire and necessity. Be realistic, as the Virgoan usually is, and the answer will come. Romance and travel favored.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Avoid overexertion and excitement; make no unnecessary changes in smooth-running projects. Romance and family interests in special planetary favor.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Better than some days, less smooth other others. Strive with the best intent and only good can come of it. Believe, with strong faith, in your teamwork with others.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Neither look for trouble nor believe it won't come just because you look the other way. Face up to situations and you won't fool yourself or find problems as difficult to solve.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good planetary influences will help those of you who remain in form and are ready to handle everyday obligations as well as new matters which always seem to come as a "surprise."

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Don't lose confidence in your ability to produce the results you want — even if temporarily stymied. Keep trying. Some dandy advantages on your side.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

There's a tendency now to act without thinking, then ask yourself the "whys" of failure. Map out a workable program BEFORE starting. Also, taking note of new trends. Good results for like effort.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an engaging personality and are highly gregarious by nature. The Virgoan is idealistic and sometimes suffers needlessly when others do not live up to his lofty standards. You have a great love of home and family and, though you enjoy travel, are happier in your own surroundings. You are extremely versatile; would make a good banker, journalist, real estate operator, confidential secretary or diplomat; would be happiest, however, in work which requires careful research and meticulous attention to detail — as in science. Try to curb tendencies to be overly critical and exacting with loved ones and associates.

MONDAY, AUGUST 25

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Planetary influences only fairly generous, so you will have to provide your own momentum to carry on now. Neither too many problems nor much opposition indicated, however.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

A beneficent Venus stimulates all your innate artistry. Even your most "offbeat" ideas could now prove feasible.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Look deeply into all the situations. Surface appearances could be misleading. Using that innate foresight of yours, however, you shouldn't have much trouble in spotting flaws.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Benign aspects now favor business and financial matters. A good day for planning for the future. Don't hope to gain by taking short-cuts, however.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A vital period! Most endeavors should prosper, but think before you speak or act. Above all, avoid tendencies toward the unorthodox; to extremes, in general.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A stimulating day! Step forth, assert yourself with confidence, bargain astutely, and tackle anything you know to be within your capabilities.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Control your imagination while you also develop its tremendous potentials for furthering your advancement. Don't let random ideas lead you out of bounds.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Your outlook not entirely auspicious. Contentment may pop up in the least expected places. Exercise restraint, put forward your very best manner and good will to counteract.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Not much planetary help here but, using your abilities to the utmost, you can make a go of the day on your own. And a good go it can be!

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Your fine mind and keen perception should assist you in even the most difficult endeavors. If you don't stray off course, you can REALLY achieve now.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Be ready to face competition. You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead. Easy does it!

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Study reasons for existing limitations. Concentrate on significant issues without neglecting minor items. A good period for tackling jobs that require patience and a steady hand.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a lively outlook on life; you are keen-minded, remarkably intuitive, perceptive and practical. You are more meticulous about handling details than those born under most Signs, and your integrity is outstanding. You have a great love of knowledge and never stop trying to accumulate more than you have. If you can curb a tendency to be overexacting with those under your supervision, you would make an excellent teacher, but many other fields are suited to your wealth of talents, notably: science, literature, music, the stage, medicine and the law.

Bobbies seek tough new laws

LONDON (AP) — Britain's police are calling for tougher laws to combat a "frightening" increase in crime.

"Society is beginning to accept law-breaking as a way of life," said Sgt. Leslie Male, chairman of the Police Federation which represents 100,000 policemen. "Public reaction is, 'But what can be done?' What can be done is for the laws of this country to be changed and to beat the criminal and punish him more severely."

The federation said in a statement that more than 2 million crimes are now being recorded in Britain annually, an eightfold increase in the last 35 years. It said more criminals now use guns and more police officers are being attacked than ever before.

"Last year one in 10 police officers was assaulted and the trend is increasing," the statement said. "If police officers are assaulted at this rate, what does the future hold for the average member of society?"

The federation called for more policemen, more prisons, more jail sentences instead of fines, more powers for magistrates and a new law making parents responsible for their children's misdeeds.

Law aids wheelchair victims

By ROBERT E. MILLER

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's 25,000 wheelchair victims are the beneficiaries of a state law that becomes effective today, although another broader statute designed to help all handicapped persons in the state awaits action by one house of the legislature. Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, sponsored the new law which says any street curbing under construction or planned in the future in municipalities and townships must have ramps at least 40 inches wide and be built with a nonskid surface.

There must be a ramp at each crosswalk that meets the specifications already in effect for state building entrances. The Department of Transportation set the specifications under federal guidelines.

Meshel said compliance with the specifications will qualify local communities for federal funds to pay the cost of construction.

Although Columbus and many other communities have installed ramps already on their own volition, hundreds of communities throughout the state have not. Meshel claimed his bill will "greatly facilitate the mobility of wheelchair-bound individuals."

Meshel, who earlier this year introduced the bill which became effective today as part of a legislative package, also wants to put into the statute books a bill of rights for all handicapped Ohioans, not just those confined to wheelchairs.

In the waning days of this year's legislative session, he won 32-20 Senate approval of his broader bill which protects citizens from discrimination stemming from their handicaps. It is scheduled to receive House consideration when the legislators convene their 1976 session, probably in January.

That measure bans discrimination in employment when a person is otherwise qualified for a job, housing, insurance coverage and the use of public accommodations.

In addition, the legislation would require special driver education courses for the handicapped and provide parking areas for them near the entrances of public buildings.

Voter polling places would have to have special accommodations for the handicapped by 1980 and the Department of Transportation would be directed to adopt rules to facilitate the use of mass transit systems by the handicapped in the future.

OSU program given law enforcement grant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration has awarded a $155,917 grant to the Ohio State University Program for the Study of Crime and Delinquency to evaluate rehabilitation programs for adult felons.

The grant will fund a six-month national study of the cost, effectiveness and value of such residential inmate programs as halfway houses and community reintegration centers, said Dr. Harry E. Allen, program director.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Private eye nice, but won't marry one

DEAR ABBY: I just met a very attractive man. (I'm divorced, and he has never been married.)

My problem is that he is a private detective, and I just can't see myself married to a man who makes his living snooping around, spying on people, following them and eavesdropping on their conversations.

He told me a little about his line of work, and at first I was fascinated, but after a while I started to wonder what kind of a man would do that for a living.

I like his personality, and he treats me like a queen, but his profession bothers me.

Am I wrong to feel the way I do?

FUSSY
DEAR ABBY: I imagine there are many women who would think a private detective's work is very glamorous and exciting. But if it bothers you, turn him loose.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem—a lazy wife. When I get home after a hard day's work, I would like to have a tasty, home-cooked meal, but instead, I get one of those pre-cooked, frozen TV dinners.

She's sly about it, too. She puts the TV dinner on another plate and tries to pass it off as something she cooked herself. I know they're TV dinners because I've seen the boxes in the garbage can.

My wife doesn't work outside the house, so it's not as though she doesn't have time to make something from scratch.

I don't want to tell her that I am on to her tricks because she's a very sensitive person, and I hate to hurt her feelings. What should I do?

LOSING PATIENCE

DEAR LOSING: Maybe she's not lazy but lacks confidence in her ability to cook. Suggest that she enroll in a cooking class. (The local YWCA probably offers courses.) The squeaking wheel gets the grease, so squeak up!

DEAR ABBY: I remarried a few years ago. My husband and I were both born in Canada, but our parents' nationalities are different.

Whenever we go out among his family or friends, he speaks in the tongue of his parents, although they can all speak English well enough.

I can't understand their language, so I sit for hours like a dummy, while they laugh and chatter away.

I think it is rude for them to talk in a language that I can't understand. All they say to me is "Hello" and "Goodbye."

I have told my husband how I feel about this, and he says I am silly.

Am I wrong to feel out of place and hurt? And have you any suggestions for me?

OUT OF IT AT 40
DEAR OUT: You say your husband's friends and family can all "speak English well enough" but persist in talking a language that is foreign to you when you are in their presence. If none speaks to you in English, you're being deliberately tuned out. If I were you, I'd stay home.

CONFIDENTIAL TO W. IN
SCHENECTADY: Most things that seem too good to be true aren't. Don't rush into anything.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Saturday, August 23, the 235th day of 1975. There are 130 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1775 — 200 years ago — King George III of England proclaimed that there was open rebellion in the American Colonies.

On this date:
In 1500, Christopher Columbus was accused of mistreating natives in Haiti. He was arrested and ordered sent back to Spain in chains.

In 1869, followers of Mary Baker Eddy obtained a charter in Lynn, Mass. to organize the Church of Christ, Scientist.

In 1914, Japan declared war on Germany in the World War I.

In 1944, Allied troops fighting in France in World War II captured the port of Marseille.

In 1947, an audience of 15,000 at the Hollywood Bowl heard President Harry Truman's daughter, Margaret, give her first public concert as a singer.

Ten years ago: A U.S. Marine Corps transport plane crashed into the bay off Hong Kong shortly after taking off for South Vietnam, killing 58 Marines.

Five years ago: Israel named Foreign Minister Abba Eban as its chief envoy to proposed Middle East peace talks.

One year ago: Pan American World Airways appealed to the U.S. government for a monthly cash subsidy to stave off what it called an imminent financial crisis.

Thought for today: Idealism is the noble toga that political gentlemen drape over their will to power — Novelist Aldous Huxley, 1894-1963.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, a Western Massachusetts expert on Canada advised that the rebellious American Colonists should invade Canada, to prevent the British from regaining control of Lake Champlain.

Area beef outlook meet September 3

BY JOHN P. GRUBER
County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Future prospects in the beef industry will be the main topic of discussion for the Washington C. H. Area Beef Outlook meeting, Wednesday, September 3. The Fayette County Cattlemen's Association will be hosting the 10 county activity to be held in the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

A charcoal broiled steak dinner with all the trimmings at 6 p.m. will get the program underway.

Two authorities in the area of beef marketing will be on hand to discuss the factors influencing the cattle market. Dr. Wally Barr, extension economist at the Ohio State University, and John Bricker, manager of Producers Livestock Association, will be on hand to share their predictions. They will discuss and answer your questions on prospects for the beef business in the immediate future, and months ahead. All phases of the industry will be highlighted.

The meeting is open to all folks involved in the beef industry including consumers. If you are a cattlefeeder, a feed supply, farm lender, market representative or consumer of beef you will want to attend this meeting for an up to date report.

Advanced registration to guarantee your steak is needed by Wednesday, August 27. Cost per person is $5 and reservations can be made by contacting the Fayette County Extension office. (335-1150).

HERE'S HOW:

IMPROVED THERMAL EFFICIENCY. A. O. SMITH engineers designed the CONSERVATIONIST to obtain optimum heat transfer.

A. Inputs, burner, flue size, baffle and combustion chamber are custom designed to produce the maximum heat from the fuel burned.

B. Flame pattern spreads evenly over the bottom head to give optimum heating characteristics.

IMPROVED STANDBY EFFICIENCY. Standby loss is the heat lost from the water after it has been heated.

A. New, double efficiency insulation surrounds the tank to keep in more heat.

B. Improved flue baffle design helps retain flue gases and conserve energy.

cropping plan. Checking corn and soybean fields now will help you determine what herbicide program you will need next spring.

You can bet that this fall's grain harvest will sow next years weed crop.

It's important to identify the specific weeds present, especially if this year herbicide let some through.

A thorough check now in continuous corn can also help to identify some insect problems that may be present next year. We have just completed a corn rootworm adult check in 19 corn fields in the country. Twenty-five plants were randomly checked in each field on 3 different dates between July 21 and August 20. The population of adult beetles ranged from 1 per 25 plants to as high as 194 per 25 plants.

Time invested in checking fields to make notes can be most valuable. I read an article recently which suggests that you should invest at least one hour of field inspection for each 10 acres you farm. The 500 acre farmer should invest 50 hours — that's one week, two weeks for 1000 acres.

THE OHIO Livestock Ration Evaluation program has been expanded to include feed testing and ration evaluation for sheep producers, beginning Sept. 1. The program had previously been available only to dairy and beef producers.

The sheep ration program will provide the same basic advantages as the dairy and beef program. This includes the ability to (1) More accurately feed animals a balanced ration; (2) increase production per animal; (3) reduce feed costs; and (4) improve animal health.

Sheep, dairy, and beef producers who are interested in more detailed information on this program can contact the Extension Office.

THURSDAY, Sept. 11, is the date for a grain drying workshop for southwestern Ohio counties. The workshop will be held in Mahan Hall beginning with a 7:30 a.m. breakfast.

The grain drying workshop is scheduled for equipment dealers, electrical power suppliers, farm lenders and farmers who have or are planning grain drying installations.

Advanced registration is requested and can be made by calling the Extension Office.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Indiana's corn crop remains well ahead of the average after another "excellent" week for crop growth and field work.

Purdue University agricultural specialists said Monday that rain showers over much of the state last week solved moisture problems.

Down On The Farm

Soybean convention attended by Wilson

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Hugh Wilson of Washington C.H. was among 145 voting delegates from 25 states attending the 55th annual convention of the American Soybean Association (ASA) in Memphis, Tenn. recently.

A highlight of the convention was a panel discussion on the quality of U.S. soybean exports. Foreign importers, a domestic exporter, a USDA official and an Iowa soybean producer were on the panel.

Among their recommendations were: (1) to develop soybean varieties for high oil or protein content and to make such content a part of the grading standard, (2) to devise and implement methods of reducing damage to soybeans during handling and transport, (3) to provide better means of verifying quality of beans upon arrival in foreign ports, (4) to create incentives for keeping beans at low moisture levels, (5) to trade No. 1 soybeans in both domestic and international trade, and (6) to change the allowable level of foreign matter in No. 2 beans from two per cent to one per cent, especially since Brazilian soybeans are exported on basis of one per cent foreign matter. ASA President W.B. Tilson of

Plainview, Tex., spoke to delegates on ASA's "Heritage of Leadership," theme of the 1975 convention.

Tilson said that qualities of the men who led the American Revolution — independence, courage and foresight — are the same qualities that have made ASA a leader in the field of agriculture.

He noted, for example, that soybean farmers were the first to contribute their own funds toward foreign market development programs.

"Because their leadership had foresight," he said, "soybean farmers were the first to reap the benefits of market expansion overseas."

Another key speaker was J.E. Randag of The Netherlands, president of the International Association of Seed Crushers, who spoke on the world oilseed supply-and-demand situation.

Randag said better soybean yields are the key to improving the soybean's position in an increasingly competitive world market.

Only by increasing yields can farmers absorb their rising production costs and, at the same time, reduce soybean prices enough to compete with palm oil and other major competitors, he said.

Witchweed may spread to Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers have been warned to be on the look out for witchweed, a parasitic plant that can destroy corn, sorghum and other grasses.

Although witchweed has never been seen in the Midwest, the Ohio Department of Agriculture said it is beginning to bloom in the Carolinas and could spread north.

has two main identifying characteristics. "It blooms bright red or sometimes yellow from mid-July to the first frost," he said. "If you spot the flowers, feel the stems. Square, slightly hairy stems indicate the possibility of witchweed."

Porter said the plant should never be pulled to make identification. He said that would spread the seeds and there may be as many as 50,000 on one plant.

Disaster benefits explained

"Farmers whose crops have been destroyed or damaged by a disaster such as a drought, flood, or hail storm may be eligible for disaster payments," George Speakman, chairman of the Fayette County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said. Payments are made for prevented planting and low yields.

"Prevented planting means that a farmer is unable to plant because a severe natural disaster or other condition beyond the farmer's control occurring at planting time, prevented him from planting at anytime during the planting period. Low yield is when a disaster seriously affects the potential yield of a crop after planting," Speakman explained.

If farmers suffer a loss of any or all of their crop acreage and do not intend to carry it through to harvest, they must report the loss to the county ASCS office before disposing of the crop residue. Also, the farm must be checked by an appraiser to determine potential production prior to disposition of the crop residue. Speakman pointed out that farmers should be prepared to provide certification of the affected crop acreage.

"If the crop is carried through to harvest and the total production is substantially below normal because of disaster conditions, farmers should report this loss within 15 days after harvest is completed and before destroying evidence of the crop damage. We want farmers to know that we do compensate for the loss of crops due to disaster if they report it," Speakman said.

The ASCS spokesman explained that disaster payments are intended only to provide some relief to farmers whose cropland is so affected by disaster that they receive little or no income from production of the crop.

The disaster payment provision of the 1975 Wheat, Feed Grain and Upland Cotton Program is authorized by the 1973 Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act.

Participation in the Wheat, Feed Grain and Upland Cotton Programs is open to all farmer regardless of race, color, creed, sex or national origin.

Hoosier corn, soybeans good

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — The road looks rosy for Indiana corn and soybean crops as the threat of a summer drought has all but disappeared, Purdue University agricultural experts say.

Lordstown accord set

LORDSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — United Auto Workers will decide Sunday whether to ratify a tentative settlement in the strike at the General Motors Corp. plant here.
The pact between UAW Local 1714 and management was reached Friday. About 2,200 local member struck the Fisher Body Fabricating Plant here July 18 in a dispute over production standards.
Lack of parts from the plant then forced the closing of the adjacent Vega-Astre and van assembly line plants, idling a total of about 10,000 workers.
John Barbara, local president, said that picket lines will continue until the 11 a.m. ratification vote Sunday.
Production standards involve how fast an employee is expected to work and the number of pieces he is expected to assemble per hour. Barbara said the union thought its members were being asked to work too fast.

Air crash kills Cincy teen-ager

HILLIARD, Fla. (AP) — A Cincinnati, Ohio, teen-ager was killed Friday and his father and step-brother injured when a small plane crashed as it took off minutes after making an emergency landing in a field, officers said.
The victim was identified as 16-year-old James Mathews. His father, Judge William Mathews, 49, of the Common Pleas Court in Cincinnati, was reported in serious condition at a local hospital.
Judge Mathews' step-son, David Montgomery, 14, was reported in satisfactory condition.
The trio had just taken off from a local airport to fly home when Mathews sent an SOS saying he was low on fuel and had to land within five minutes, the Florida Highway Patrol said.

The plane was easily landed in a field about four miles northeast of this small city in North Florida near Jacksonville, troopers said. But within minutes Mathews took off again, only to have the plane slam into trees at the edge of the pasture and nosedive to the ground, officers said.
"He told me he seemed to be short on fuel, landed in the pasture, switched to another fuel tank, then tried to take off, and crashed," Trooper Peter Cooper said.

Marriage vows exchanged in double ring ceremony

First Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Chris Oates, daughter of Mrs. Shirley Oates of 514 E. Market St. and Paul Adams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Adams Sr. Rt. 2, Candelabra and vases of flowers enhanced the altar. The Rev. Conrad Bower and Rev. Ralph Wolford performed the wedding ceremony.

Miss Debbie Wonderleigh, vocalist, sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Wedding Prayer." Mrs. Rosalie Stackhouse, grandmother of the groom, was the organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ron Oates, the bride wore a taffeta gown with chiffon overlay, with high slash collar and front lace insert at the bodice. The empire waisted gown and the skirt flared to a flowing train in the back. A deep flounced ruffle of chiffon with tiny red rosebuds trimmed with lace, accented the gown. She carried a colonial bouquet.

Maid of honor Miss Rajean Keiser wore a blue floral gown with chiffon overlay. The gown had a square lace neckline, and bodice and high waistband on the gathered skirt. She carried a single white rose. The other attendants, Linda Oates, sister of the bride, Connie Adams of Summit Station, Karen Warner and Susan Wilson, both of Washington C.H., Teresa McDonald of Jeffersonville, all wore gowns styled like the honor attendant, except with blue bodice. Each carried a single red rose.

Mrs. Oates chose for her daughter's wedding a pink floor-length dress. The bodice of beige lace topped the flared skirt which had a deep ruffle at the hemline. The dress had full sleeves with French Cuffs. The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow halter dress topped with a chiffon floral print jacket.

Shari Oates, sister of the bride, was the flower girl, and Scott Eggleton, nephew of the groom, was the ringbearer. Don and Mark Oates, brothers of the bride, lighted the candles on the altar.

Roger Eggleton, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Lonny Adams, brother of the groom, Cecil Carter, Dan Lowe, Don Robinette, Tom Payton, Greer Bower and Kevin Stockwell.

Mrs. James (Lu Ann Smith) Mason was honored recently at a miscellaneous bridal shower at the home of Mrs. Harrylee Downing.

The bride's table was decorated in yellow and white with a bell as the centerpiece.

The games were won by Mrs. James Donohoe and Miss Darlene Dean. Other guests present were Mrs. Howard E. Smith and Mrs. Frances Mason, mothers of the couple, Mrs. Elza Smith, Mrs. Roland Sterling, Mrs. Dean Yahn, Mrs. Ronnie Yahn, Mrs. Gene Yahn, Mrs. Naomi Williamson, Mrs. Donald Parrett, Mrs. James Donohoe, Miss Darlene Dean, Mrs. Darrell Brown and Mrs. Doug Ford.

Bride-elect feted at party

Miss Jeannie Mossbarger, bride-elect of Steve Bihl, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower recently in the country home of Mrs. Robert Mace. The hostesses were Miss Mindy Mace, Miss Jo Lynn Smith and Mrs. Mace.

The dining table was decorated with a small bride and pastel colored daisies. Fresh fruit, finger sandwiches and punch were served to the guests. The young ladies were seated at small tables centered with a demitasse cup filled with pastel daisies and babies' breath.

Miss Mossbarger responded in her charming manner as the gifts were opened. Visiting and renewing old school friendships was enjoyed by the young ladies.

Those attending the shower were Mrs. Donald E. Mossbarger, mother of the guest of honor, Miss Jan Mossbarger, Miss Billie Ann Lanman, Mrs. Kendra Knecht, Mrs. Sue Ann Creamer, Miss Jo Ellen Rowe, Miss Mary Ann Harper, Miss Kathi Browning, Miss Marilyn Ingram, Miss Debbie Hammond, Miss Mace, Miss Smith and Mrs. Mace.

Miss Mossbarger and Mr. Bihl will be married at 3:30 p.m. Aug. 30 in St. Colman Catholic Church.

MISS PENELOPE PENSYL

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pensyl of 613 S. Main St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Penelope Ann, to John Carroll Halliday, son of Mrs. Carroll Halliday, 2174 Ohio Rt. 41NE.

Miss Pensyl, a 1969 graduate of Washington High School and 1973 graduate of Bob Jones University, is a first year student at Ohio State University College of Medicine.

Her fiancé graduated from Miami Trace High School in 1966 and received both his Bachelor of Science degree in 1971 and Master's degree in 1975 from Purdue University. He is a math teacher at Miami Trace High School.

Lori Campbell is two years-old

Little Lori Ann Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Campbell of 8197 Post Rd., observed her second birthday at a family dinner and party on Tuesday evening.

She opened many pretty gifts with the help of her father, who was also celebrating his birthday.

A 'Winnie the Pooh' cake and ice cream were served to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Martin, maternal grandparents, Mrs. Becky Combs and Jeannie of Jamestown, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Campbell, paternal grandparents, Brenda, Tim and Kevin Perkins, Mike Johnson, all of Washington C. H., and Gary Lee Martin of Xenia, who has been a houseguest for the past two weeks.

Do think of fragrance as a "many splended thing." Besides your favorite bottle of perfume or cologne, get into the pleasure of scented bath and body oil, moisture lotion and whatever else you find to surround yourself with.

DON'T perfume the air instead of you. Once open, a bottle of perfume evaporates, letting scent go out into the air. It also tends to lose potency little by little, so use it regularly once you open it.

Miss Barker, Mr. Linthicum married in Bookwalter

The Bookwalter Church of Christ in Christian Union was the Aug. 2 setting for the marriage of Miss Treva Barker to Randy Linthicum. The Rev. Wayne Knisley performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Barker Sr. of Jeffersonville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Linthicum, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

Candles and two floral arrangements of white carnations and daisies adorned the altar.

Mrs. Peggy Snyder, vocalist, accompanied herself at the organ.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a white bridal gown with Venise lace trim on the high collar, and the empire bodice was sprinkled with seed pearls. Her full A-line skirt and long sheer sleeves also had with matching lace and the flowing chapel train had Venise lace petals. She carried a colonial arrangement of yellow carnations and daisies accented with baby's breath and matching ribbon.

Miss Wilma Boysel served as bridesmaid, and wore a formal length gown of pink lace with long sheer matching headpiece.

Melanie Linthicum presided at the guest book.

Robin Penson served as best man and Lloyd Andrews and David Miller were the ushers.

Mrs. Barker chose a long green floral gown with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow carnations and baby breath. The groom's mother wore a peach formal length dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow carnations with baby's breath.

A reception for the couple took place in the Bookwalter Township House. The bride's table featured a tiered wedding cake frosted in yellow with white flowers. Hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Lee Campbell, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Marvin Barker, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Kinnison, a friend.

Both the new Mr. and Mrs. Linthicum are graduates of Miami Trace High School. He is engaged in farming. They are residing at Rt. 1, Jeffersonville.

When you cook new potatoes in their skin, do so in about an inch of boiling salted water. Use about one-quarter teaspoon salt for each half-cup of water.

State office tower proves to be gigantic headache

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's new State Office Tower is causing giant headaches for state officials.

It's tenants don't have enough money to pay their rent, and the $83 million structure remains totally in hock.

State officials say the problem must be solved soon to protect the Workmen's Compensation Fund, which loaned the money to build the 41-story edifice across the street from the Statehouse.

The current crisis involves a foulup among state biennial budget planners, who requested only $15.4 million for rents of state agencies that occupy the building. Actual need for the two-year period is $25.5 million, based on a recent audit of the Ohio Building Authority by Arthur Anderson & Co., reported Dana Stewart, executive director of the OBA.

The OBA financed the giant project after entering into a contract with the Workmen's Compensation Fund, which represents employer assessments used to take care of Ohio's injured workers.

No rents have been paid by tenants since July 1 and Stewart said the shortage this year alone is about $4 million. OBA will need an additional $6 million when the first payment on the loan's principal — $3 million — comes due April 16, 1976.

The problem has been made worse by the refusal of some state agencies to move into tower space that had been reserved for them. They include the auditor's office and the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

In addition, the Legislative Budget Office said in a memo to the Senate Finance Committee that someone, in effect, goofed in calculating the number of gross square feet that are in the building.

It said two service floors "were apparently left out of the original calculation."

The rent in the structure is high, about $16.50 a square foot, including maintenance and operating costs the tenants have to pay. Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson found space a half block away from the tower for $9.60 a square foot.

Administrative Services Director Richard L. Krabach, who acts as tower landlord and turns the rents over to the OBA, disputed Ferguson's claim that his refusal to occupy tower space would save taxpayer money.

"He isn't saving anything," said Krabach. "The taxpayer has got to pay for this building one way or another." Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said he agreed with Krabach completely.

"There's no way that the taxpayers won't have to pay the debt, and we've got to protect the integrity of the workmen's fund," Meshel said.

The Youngstown lawmaker said no one in the administration called the problem to his attention when the finance committee was considering the state budget during the month of June.

Stewart said he tried to see Meshel, as well as House Finance Chairman

Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, before the budget bill was enacted, but was unable to do so.

Meshel confirmed he had failed to return at least one phone call from Stewart, but blamed it on the hectic pace of the legislature in the days before the $10.6 billion spending bill was passed.

The senator noted that Howard L. Collier, director of the Office of Budget and Management, didn't mention the problem when he came before the committee "with 40 or 50 amendments."

Meshel stressed that he was not being critical of Collier, and noted the latter's statement that no one in the budget office was aware until the building authority submitted a bill July 1 for $11.1 million. Officials expected the 1975 rent to be $7.7 million.

Meshel said the Legislative Budget Office memo, dated June 9, was lost in the shuffle of budget deliberations.

"I didn't read it," he said. "I didn't see it."

Krabach said the Rhodes administration would like to see the building refinanced with revenue bonds so that the high interest of the workmen's compensation loan can be paid off.

Under the law, OBA has to receive interest equal to an amount the fund could have earned by investing its reserves on the commercial market. The rate currently is 8.6 per cent, but can be renegotiated every two years.

The administrative services director said the state could refinance the tower over a 30-year period at interest rates now running about 6 per cent, if the $2.75 million capital improvements bond issue passes on the November ballot.

Meshel discounted the possibility that the State Controlling Board might bail out the tower, at least for this year, noting that the legislature appropriated only $4.9 million in un earmarked money for the board's emergency fund for the entire 1975-1977 biennium.

The finance chairman said, "We've got a problem all right. I don't know where we can find the money."

The situation probably will be called to the attention of the legislature when it returns Sept. 10 for a 1975 cleanup session, he said.

Investors having second thoughts

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — To judge by the stock market's behavior lately, American investors are having some somber second thoughts about the economic outlook they viewed so optimistically only a few months ago.

In a vivid contrast to its 300-point rise from early December through July 15, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials has fallen 87.55 points in a little more than a month.

The slide dragged the closely watched indicator down 14.24 points on Tuesday and another 15.25 Wednesday, leaving it at 793.26 — its first close below 800 since April 11.

Other market measures have shown equal or even sharper pullbacks.

The list of reasons given by market-watchers for the apparent change of heart is substantial:

—Resurgent inflation, as evidenced not only by stepped-up rates of increase in the government's consumer and wholesale price indices, but also by recent boosts in a broad range of basic commodities and materials — like steel, aluminum, wheat and gasoline.

—Rising interest rates, which add to the cost of living and of doing business, and at the same time tend to drain money from the stock market into interest-bearing investments, like bonds.

—Doubts about the economy's ability to mount a sustained recovery from the recession, especially if inflation disrupts the spending plans of businesses and consumers.

—The much-publicized financial problems of New York City, and their potential impact on all the investors who own the city's securities, including the country's biggest banks.

Many market analysts insist that the declines of late can still be looked on as a normal period of retrenchment — a "correction" in Wall Street parlance — after the prolonged and powerful rally of the first six months this year.

"All year long we've been expecting a correction," observed Kenneth W. Johnson, research director at the Minneapolis-based brokerage firm Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood.

"And the longer it was put off, the larger it was likely to be."

It is also widely argued that the market will have to go down a good deal more before anyone can conclude that investors have given up on their hopes for a rebound from the recession.

Bucs sweep twinbill, 7-2, 4-2

Pirates turn table on Reds

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates? The slumping Cincinnati Reds? Wait a minute? Shouldn't that be the other way around?

Maybe a week ago, when the Pirates

were stumbling through a six-game losing streak—four of them in Cincinnati—and the Reds were on a nine-game winning spree.

But not any more. It's what you call your basic about-face. Both are on four-game streaks—but it's the Bucs who are winning and the Reds who are losing.

"I think our slump is over. We're aggressive again at the plate," Dave Parker said Friday after his dramatic two-run homer in a four-run eighth inning catapulted the Pirates to a 4-2 victory and a two-night doubleheader sweep of the Reds. Two-run singles by Craig Reynolds and Rennie Stennett in a five-run sixth inning and Richie Zisk's two homers carried Pittsburgh to a 7-2 victory in the opener.

The twin-killing of the Reds widened the Pirates' National League East lead to 1½ games over Philadelphia, which edged San Diego 6-5. In the rest of the league, Atlanta defeated St. Louis 9-5, New York beat San Francisco 6-4, Montreal trimmed Los Angeles 3-1 in 12 innings and Chicago downed the Astros 6-5 in 11.

"We've had troubles, but we're getting it back together," said Parker. "And the big guy, meaning Willie Stargell, says he'll be back in the lineup Monday, so that's good news."

Stargell, recovering from a cracked rib, was out of the lineup during the Bucs' recent 2-12 road trip. "Maybe it's best that we got it out of our system then," he said.

Phil's 6, Padres 5
Mike Schmidt's two-run homer in the ninth inning vaulted the Phillies past San Diego and kept them within striking distance of the Pirates. Dick Allen, who had homered earlier, doubled with one out before Schmidt sent his 29th homer into the left field bleachers.

Braves 9, Cardinals 5
Rookie Rob Bleil drove in four runs, two with a single in a six-run sixth inning, to lead Atlanta past St. Louis and drop the third-place Cards four games back of the Pirates.

Mets 6, Giants 4
The Mets gave Tom Seaver a five-run lead in the first inning and he needed all of them to become the first 18-game winner in the league. Rusty Staub's two-run homer highlighted the burst that kept fourth-place New York from falling more than 5½ games back of the Bucs.

Expos 3, Dodgers 1
Larry Parrish's two-run homer in the 12th inning boosted Montreal over the Dodgers. Al Downing walked Mike Jorgensen before Parrish slugged his eighth homer of the year. Ron Cey's 16th homer gave Los Angeles the lead in the seventh inning but the Expos tied it in the ninth on Nate Colbert's third homer.

Cubs 6, Astros 5
An error and Jose Cardenal's bunt single gave the Cubs two 11th-inning runs and their victory over Houston. Cesar Cedeno's single had given the Astros a 5-4 lead in the top of the 11th. But a pair of walks and second baseman Ken Boswell's miscue tied it again, then Cardenal dumped his game-winning bunt.

Orioles 8, Rangers 5
Elrod Hendricks hit a two-run homer to key a four-run third inning and Don Baylor hit a two-run shot in the fifth as the Orioles remained 6½ games behind Boston in the AL East. Hendricks, the first man to face reliever Clyde Wright in the third, hit his sixth home run of the season after Tony Muser's single had given the Orioles a 3-2 lead.

Indians 9, Royals 5
George Brett's throwing error gave Cleveland two of its four first-inning runs and the Indians held on to beat Kansas City, dropping the Royals seven games behind rained-out Oakland in the AL West. Rick Manning was safe on Cookie Rojas' error and scored on George Hendrick's double.

Yankees 5, Angels 2
Chris Chambliss drove in three runs with his eighth homer and a single and Catfish Hunter won his 17th game with a five-hitter. Chambliss, who delivered New York's first run with a fourth-inning single, belted his eighth home run after Thurman Munson opened the seventh with a double off Ed Figueroa.

Geronimo shows off surprising arm

PITTSBURGH (AP)—If Cesar Geronimo occasionally surprises opposing runners with the accuracy of his arm, the Cincinnati Reds centerfielder admits they are no more surprised than he is.

He recalled one occasion before he turned professional when he was playing in a pickup game on a field that had no fence.

In deepest centerfield, there were some guava trees and the batter hit the ball over Geronimo's head.

"I just ran and ran," recalled Geronimo. "The ball went behind the trees before I picked it up. I don't know how far it was."

"All I know is I turned around and threw. I didn't know where it would go. I couldn't even see the infield because of the trees."

Where the ball went was to third base on one bounce, retiring a runner who was too surprised to slide.

"I once threw Cesar Cedeno out from 385 feet away and I didn't mean to," added the Reds outfielder, who threw out Willie Davis of the St. Louis Cardinals earlier this week when he was trying to score from second on a single. "I was in the Dominican Republic. He was on first base and the ball was hit to the wall in left center.

"I ran over, got the ball and turned to throw. I was throwing the ball to third base, to try and get the man who hit it. But the ball somehow slipped out of my hand. It went right to home plate. One bounce and Cedeno was out."

Was Geronimo surprised. "Yes," he admitted, "but you should have seen Cedeno."

Hegwood wins Grand AM shoot

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—A 47-year-old silver-haired former Air Force pilot, entered in the Grand American Trapshooting Tournament for the first time, walked off with the top prize Friday.

Wayne Hegwood of Jackson, Miss., won a shootoff with Carter Black of Shelbyville, Ky., to capture the Grand American Handicap, trapshooting's biggest event.

Hegwood, among the last on the firing line of the 3,725 shooters entered in the handicap, shattered 99 targets from 20 yards to tie Black, who was one of the first participants and had to wait all day to see if anyone was going to match his score.

In the shootoff, Hegwood broke 23 of 25 targets to 22 by the Kentuckian. After his victory, Hegwood, who said he had accomplished his feat with his father's squirrel gun, grinned and declared, "I feel the Lord was on my side."

A friend said, "His best score before today was an 88, and the only thing he ever won was Class B trophy down in Mississippi." Hegwood agreed, but admitted he has been shooting more this year than ever before.

Hegwood is an electrical contractor and the father of three daughters. Defeat was bitter for Black, 42, who has been unable to work since he was shot by a handgun in 1973.

Braves make WCC playoffs

The Braves nudged out the Dodgers and the Reds for first place honors in the third and final round of the Friday Men's Golf League at the Washington Country Club.

The Braves, Allen Willoughby, Ralph Hyer, Ernst Stanforth, and Paul Maughmer; were one point behind the Dodgers going into Friday's final nine-holes, and they won 17 points to move to the top of the standings.

The Reds, who won the first-round title, finished second as the Dodgers wound up third.

The Braves won the second-round as well as the third and the four-man team will meet the Reds in a league championship playoff next week.

Willoughby fired a 37 to take top honors on the day while Jim Polk of the Dodgers and John Scott of the Yankees carded 38's.

Try to avoid losing habit

Pro gridgers get serious

By ALEX SCHARE
AP Sports Writer

All the talk about the Dallas Cowboys and their rebuilding process notwithstanding, Coach Tom Landry says the time to start winning is now.

"You don't want to develop a losing habit, especially with a young team like ours," said Landry. "It's important that we win as many games as possible."

And Landry is hoping the Cowboys will start winning with tonight's National Football League exhibition game against the Minnesota Vikings, defending National Conference champions.

Elsewhere in the NFL, Kansas City was at Detroit and Chicago played St. Louis at Champaign, Ill. in afternoon games. In other games tonight it was Los Angeles at Buffalo, Green Bay at Cincinnati, Miami at New Orleans, Oakland at Atlanta and Houston at Denver.

The New York Jets meet the New York Giants at the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn. Sunday.

On Thursday night, San Diego beat San Francisco 20-7 on scoring passes by Dan Fouts and Neal Jeffreys and two Ray Werschling field goals.

In Friday night's games, the Philadelphia Eagles picked off seven New England passes and ran back three for touchdowns—two by linebacker Frank LeMaster—and topped the Patriots 24-10; Terry Bradshaw tossed three scoring passes, including bombs of 49 and 54 yards to second-year man Lynn Swann, to lead the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 31-10 decision over the Baltimore Colts, and reserve Randy Johnson completed seven passes in a row to rally the Washington Redskins from a 14-7 halftime deficit to a 23-14 victory over the Cleveland Browns before a skimpy crowd of 15,513 in Washington's RFK Stadium.

Both Dallas and Minnesota are 0-2 in preseason play, but Minnesota Coach Bud Grant has been without star defensive tackle Alan Page, late reporting to camp because of his law studies at the University of Texas, and has used starting quarterback Fran Tarkenton very sparingly. Page is supposed to see his first game action against Dallas, while Tarkenton is expected to play at least a half tonight.

Landry has been trying to find replacements for running back Calvin Hill, who defected to the World Football League, and for defensive tackle Bob Lilly, center Dave Manders and fullback Walt Garrison—all of whom retired. Although he's used a host of rookies in the two losses, he'd dearly love a victory over Minnesota.

"We're getting more consistent," said Landry, "but there's only one way you develop confidence as a team, and that's by winning—even in the exhibition season."

Landry is expected to try Doug Dennison as his No. 1 running back, ahead of Charles Young, with Robert Newhouse at fullback. Starting quarterback Roger Staubach may go as much as three quarters.

Sellout seen for Bengals' exhibition

CINCINNATI (AP)—A sellout crowd of more than 50,000 is expected tonight when the Cincinnati Bengals make their home debut with a preseason exhibition with the Green Bay Packers.

The Packers are unbeaten in two games under freshman Coach Bart Starr who led the Pack to five world titles as the team's quarterback.

Cincinnati, 2-1 in exhibition, is hoping its untracked offense which rolled up 38 points last week against Buffalo, can prove itself against the traditionally tough Green Bay Defense.

Bengals Coach Paul Brown named veteran running back Essex Johnson to start for the first time this season and Johnson, who signed a waiver against liability for permanent damage, said he is looking forward to the start.

Cincinnati agreed to let Johnson, who holds most Cincinnati rushing records, to return only after signing the waiver. Team physicians said prior to the season that Johnson's injured knee could be permanently damaged if he continues to play.

Rookie running back Willard Harrell is the Packers' leading running back with 88 yards in 22 carries.

Starr said he was very conscious of his first game against 40-year veteran Coach Paul Brown.

Miami U. favored to win MAC title

OXFORD — Tied for the longest unbeaten streak among major college football teams in the nation, Miami University opens fall practice with 85 candidates expected to report for physical examinations Saturday.

Heavy two-a-day sessions with pads start Thursday as the Redskins prepare for their season-opener at home against Marshall, Sept. 13.

Beginning his second season, Coach Dick Crum will have 28 lettermen back, including 11 starters. Unbeaten in their last 23 games, the Redskins are two-time defending Mid-American Conference and Tangerine Bowl champions.

Miami and Oklahoma are both tied for the longest unbeaten streaks at 23, and the Redskins will also be after their 33rd consecutive non-losing season, second only to Penn State's 35.

Last year Miami became the first MAC team to rank among the top 10 in the nation. The final polls had the Redskins ranked 10th by Associated Press, United Press International and the Football News.

Miami was the heavy pre-season pick of both the MAC football coaches and the MAC News Media Association. The Redskins were selected first on five of the nine coaches' ballots and 57 of the 67 news media ballots. Bowling Green, Kent State and Central Michigan were the other league teams receiving first-place votes.

"We certainly should be a contender," stated Coach Crum. "We have good personnel returning and should be in the title race." The Redskins should be even stronger in the offensive backfield and just as strong along the defensive line. However, Miami will be weaker to begin with on the offensive line and defensive backfield due to inexperience according to Coach Crum.

Returning in the offensive backfield will be last year's three top ground gainers in quarterback Sherman Smith, tailback Rob Carpenter and wingback Randy Walker.

Walker, a 5-8, 200-pound senior, was the leading rusher last season with 873 yards in 214 carries and scored four touchdowns at the tailback position. "He is a very versatile player and we feel we can take advantage of this with him at the wingback position," said Crum.

Carpenter, a 6-1, 214-pound junior, makes the switch from fullback to tailback this season. "We use our tailback a lot in our style of offense and we want to take advantage of Carpenter's size and speed," remarked Crum. Last year Carpenter led the team in scoring with 13 touchdowns, gained 656 yards in 139 carries and caught 12 passes for 125 yards.

Back for his fourth year of calling signals will be Smith, a 6-4, 217-pounder. Last year he gained 711 yards in 161 carries, scored seven touchdowns, completed 22 of 42 passes for 218 yards and four touchdowns and even caught three passes for 51 yards. "Smith is a big quarterback that loves to run with the ball, but can also be a threat through the air," stated Crum. "He has the experience and maturity so that the rest of the team looks up to him. We will be quarterback oriented with our offensive attack."

The two biggest holes to fill on offense come along the offensive line and

MIKE DOMENICO — Former All-Ohio pick with the Washington Blue Lions in 1972, Domenico will be sharing the duty with Randy Gunlock this season for the Miami U. Redskins. The 6-1", 210-pound junior is one of two, two-year lettermen returning for offensive line duty this season.

the kicking game. Miami lost its five all-MAC players in tackle Mike Biehle, guards Pat Kief and Chuck Miller, placekicker Dave Draudt and punter Jeff Rowlands. "We feel we have potentially good replacements along the line and we have several top kickers in our freshmen group," stated Coach Crum.

Defensively the Redskins have lost All-America middle guard Brad Cousino, linebacker Chuck Varner, ends Brad Miller and Jay Fry and backs John McVay and Joe Spicer. Jeff Kelly, who was a second-team all-MAC defensive tackle last year, is being switched to middle guard. Replacing Kelly will be Joe Hasenohrl.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

Just as the funeral is a ceremony where none is invited but all may attend, so is the condolence or sympathy visit. It is often most helpful to the bereaved. Friends should avoid the mistaken belief that the mourner prefers to be alone. Pain suffered in solitude is heavier to bear than pain which is shared.

Respectfully,

Richard Kirkpatrick

Statistical flukes turning up

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Those things called statistical flukes seem to be turning up everywhere, upsetting our notion of things economic, undermining our hopes, misleading our forecasters.

A fluke is the all-purpose alibi, serving economists in the same way that a "freak disturbance" provides the weather forecaster with what seems to be an explanation for his own poor performance.

Is the nation's balance of payments situation improving or deteriorating? It's hard to tell; something's fluke.

As measured by the net liquidity balance, payments showed a $1.2 billion surplus in the June quarter. That represented a deterioration from the first-quarter surplus of $2.9 billion.

Measured by the official reserve transactions basis, payments showed a $1.6 billion deficit, but that was an improvement from the $3.3 billion deficit registered in the first quarter.

Perhaps not to be placed in the category of fluke, but too important to ignore in any compilation of misleading indicators, is the latest report on retail sales.

In July, sales rose 2.4 per cent to $49.97 billion from $48.76 billion in June. It was the largest one-month increase in a year, and put revenues 7.8 per cent above the year-earlier figure of $46.36 billion.

You may conclude from this that sales are spurting. And you may draw the conclusion that the nation is moving up out of the recession.

However, those figures really show that sales volume declined. If sales were to show a gain they would have to come to a total at least 9.5 per cent higher than the year before to compensate for the rise in consumer prices.

Criticism of the jobless figures reported by Washington also seems to be growing because of what could be a very serious error of methodology that undoubtedly will be passed off as a fluke.

Doubts about the reliability of the unemployment figures arise from the practice of dropping from the labor force figure individuals who have become so discouraged that they no longer look for work.

First National City Bank economists are warning Americans not to become too optimistic over a drop in joblessness to 8.4 per cent in July because it could be temporary.

When the economy begins to improve, they say, discouraged dropouts might re-enter the work force. A goodly number will fail to obtain jobs immediately, and thus will be added to the jobless rolls.

Sindlinger & Co., a polling and research firm, goes so far as to suggest that most of the improvement in the unemployment rate this year can be attributed to this situation.

Albert Sindlinger, president of the firm, says it is unlikely that the correction will show up in August unemployment figures. But he suggests the nation might be in for a shock on or about Oct. 6, when the September figures are released.

Sindlinger, who maintains that unemployment was above 11 per cent in July — that is, counting individuals the government drops from its calculations — insists the government is erring, not just flunking.

Opening lead — Five of spades.

After the basic elements of handling the cards have been mastered, the single most important aspect of the play of the hand is counting.

Although the numbers seldom exceed 13, counting does require a sincere effort and is therefore one of the areas most often neglected by the casual bridge player.

This hand played some time ago at the Washington Duplicate Bridge Club serves as a fine example. On the bidding shown, North-South arrived at four spades doubled. Although the three heart bid and the final double were a bit unorthodox, East-West can take nine tricks in hearts and can defeat a spade game if declarer misguesses the heart situation.

West led a spade, and declarer played a second round, to the dummy. A small diamond was led to the queen and ace, and West returned a diamond which declarer ruffed.

A club was led to the king and a second club was ducked into the West hand. Declarer took the club return and let a spade to dummy to discard a small heart on the last club. He then led the jack of hearts from the board.

East saved declarer a lot of worry about the heart position by stepping up with the ace. Everyone knows how bad it feels to have an ace ruffed the second round, but let's try a little counting.

EAST KNEW that declarer began with only one diamond. When partner showed out on the third round of spades, South could be credited with exactly six. Declarer is also known to have started with exactly three clubs. He must, therefore, have begun with three hearts and have two remaining.

If South holds two small hearts, or the king-queen, East's play does not matter. In the actual case, if East plays low, declarer will have a difficult decision to make.

South is likely to make the right guess, at least half the time. When he does, East will have gained nothing.

What is important, however, is that by counting declarer's hand East determines that playing low can never cost anything, but could gain trick.

Half a chance is better than none.

Bill Horne and Bill Horne Jr. topped all comers during play Tuesday night at the Washington Inn.

Mrs. Charles Fabb and Mrs. Grove Davis placed second. In third place were Mrs. William Bourke and Mrs. Eber Coil.

The second place finish by Mrs. Fabb enabled her to recapture the lead in the point competition.

Complications After Surgery

For years, a great deal of attention has been paid to methods by which complications after surgery can be avoided.

A clot in the lungs is a serious problem. Almost always it originates when a small piece of a blood clot in a vein in the leg breaks off, circulates in the body and is finally trapped in the lung.

A substance, heparin, is being used in an effort to prevent clots, or thrombosis, in the deep veins of the legs and the lungs.

A great number of patients have been given small doses of heparin prior to surgery with excellent results. The reports now indicate that this drug will be valuable in patients past the age of 40 who are about to have major abdominal surgery.

The original studies were made by Dr. Vigay Kakkar of Kings College Hospital in London. There is greater and greater acceptance of this pre-operative type of medication.

One never knows through which door knowledge will walk. A study of the mountain laurel flower turns out to be a possible new approach to the control of certain kinds of cancer in experimental animals.

Dr. John M. Edwards, at the University of Storrs in Connecticut, has been purifying chemicals that have been extracted from this flower and another wild flower, the bluebell.

It seems that some substances within the flowers can actually reduce the size of tumors in animals.

Soon the exact chemicals will be pinpointed and synthesized so that expanded studies can be programmed in laboratories all over the country.

Women who have tried repeatedly to become pregnant but have not been successful in holding on to the fetus may soon have an important form of treatment.

Dr. Herbert W. Horne and his co-workers at the Boston Hospital for Women have found that an organism, mycoplasma, may be the hidden source of spontaneous abortion.

Dr. Horne has been using a special type of antibiotic, decolymycin, to destroy the T-strain mycoplasma. This has materially reduced the number of cases of interrupted early pregnancy.

It is a concept that will be watched with great interest.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "What to Do About Ulcers." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Once you bring me home, I'm yours forever. Even if I'm burned. Or lost. Or stolen.

If you look for me and can't find me, just report it. And you'll get me back, as good as new.

And remember: I'll never break your heart. Or leave you stranded in the tight spots.

I'll always be there when you need me.

And that ought to make you feel pretty secure.

INJURY ACCIDENT — Cars driven by James A. Heath, 21, of 6 Royal Court, and David R. Phillips, 20, of Dorthea Drive, collided at the intersection of Washington Avenue and Clearview Drive at 1:45 a.m. Saturday. Both drivers and Heath's passenger, Bruce Messner, 20, Bloomingburg, sustained injury and were treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital. Charges are expected to be filed.

Three hurt in city mishap

Three area men were injured in a two-car accident at 1:45 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of Washington Avenue and Clearview Road.

Washington C.H. police officers reported a car driven by James A. Heath, 21, of 6 Royal Court, turned left from Washington Avenue onto Clearview Road in front of an oncoming auto driven by David R. Phillips, 20, of Dorthea Drive. The collision resulted in severe damage to both autos and injury to the drivers. A passenger riding with Heath, Bruce Messner, 20, Bloomingburg, also sustained injury. The three were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by ambulance where they were treated and released. A failure to yield right of way charge is expected to be filed against Heath and an expired operator's license charge is expected to be filed against Phillips, police officers reported today.

Three additional accidents were investigated by police Friday and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department cited a Leesburg man for a traffic infraction which resulted in an accident.

A rear-end collision at 8:07 p.m. Friday, on Columbus Avenue, near S. Elm Street involved cars driven by Yvonne Detweiler, 33, of 148 Eastview Drive, and Kenneth L. Ford, 20, of 425 W. Circle Ave. Police reported the accelerator pedal stuck on the Detweiler auto. Neither driver was injured.

A second rear-end collision occurred at 6:30 p.m. Friday when a car driven by Stephen J. Ford, 18, Rosewood, collided with the rear of a car driven by Martha L. Bonham, 27, of Ohio 41-S, at the intersection of Hinde and Court streets. Police reported damage as slight.

A passenger in a car owned by Stephen Greer, 606 N. North St., Michael R. Greer, 8, same address, opened the Greer car door into a car driven by Ramay J. Storm, 45, of 618 S. Fayette St., while Mrs. Storm was pulling into a parking space in Kroger's parking lot, Clinton Avenue, at 10:06 p.m. Friday. Damage was minor according to police estimates.

A rear-end collision on Prairie Road, eight-tenths of a mile north of the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road intersection, at 3:20 p.m. Friday involved cars driven by Mark V. Gilbert, 16, Bloomingburg, and Jerry N. Alfrey, 32, Leesburg. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported the Gilbert auto slowed to turn into a private driveway and the Alfrey auto couldn't stop in time. After the initial impact Alfrey's car traveled left of center into the roadside ditch. He was cited by deputies for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. Damage was moderate to both vehicles.

Police officers probe theft of three radios

Three citizens band radios were stolen Friday, Washington C.H. police reported today along with a bicycle larceny and three stolen flower pots.

A CB radio valued at $150 belonging to Mike Maust, 920 Forest St., was stolen from his truck parked in front of his residence sometime Friday. A coat hanger was used to break into the vehicle, police reported.

A CB radio valued at $150 belonging to Bradley Noble, 1239 Nelson Place, was stolen from his car sometime Friday while the auto was parked in his driveway. Again a coat hanger was used to enter the vehicle.

A CB radio and a pistol valued at $250 was stolen from a truck belonging to William Woodrow, 752 McLean St., sometime Friday. The serial number on the handgun, a Gracia Star, was reported as being 1287029 by police.

A 10-speed bicycle valued at $100, belonging to John Denen, 128 E. Paint St., was stolen sometime between 9:15 p.m. Thursday and 11:30 a.m. Friday. Police described the bicycle as having some rear spokes missing and a rear brake pad missing.

Three flower pots valued at $33 were stolen off the porch of the Fern McKinney residence, 410 Delaware St., sometime between Thursday and Friday. Police are investigating the theft.

Square dance set Labor Day

A western style square dance, sponsored by the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society, will be held from 7 until 10 p.m. on Labor Day, Sept. 1 at the Food World parking lot, 1122 Columbus Ave.

There is no admission charge for the event which will be featuring the Shooting Stars square dancing group from Washington C.H. In case of rain, the dance will be held at Eastside Elementary School, 506 S. Elm St.

The callers will be Doc Richards, Curley Roe and Chester Howell, all of Washington C.H.

Association names local chiropractor

Dr. James J. McCracken of 205 N. Fayette St., has been selected for membership in the American Chiropractic Association.

As a member of the ACA, Dr. McCracken joins thousands of fellow doctors of chiropractic, all dedicated to improving general health care.

Dr. McCracken is a 1975 graduate of National College of Chiropractic located at Lombard, Illinois. He and his wife, Susan reside in Washington C.H. Membership dues support major programs of chiropractic education and research, and provide materials for use in public education and vocational guidance.

The announcement of Dr. McCracken's selection was made by Dr. William H. Dallas, president of the American Chiropractic Association.

Car fire probed

An auto driven by Marvin McRobie, 822 E. Paint St., burst into flames under the hood at 3926 Prairie Road, at 2 a.m. Saturday.

Washington C.H. firemen were summoned to the scene, but the fire was out upon their arrival. They estimated $50 damage and reported the car was owned by Knisley Pontiac, Columbus Avenue.

Nurse given car by Elvis

MEMPHIS (AP) — Singer Elvis Presley, despite his fourth hospitalization since last fall, has given away yet another free car. This time the recipient was a nurse.

Mrs. Marian Cocke, a nursing supervisor on the 18th floor of Baptist Hospital, drove to work Friday in a four-year-old Ford. She drove home in a luxury model Pontiac.

Presley canceled a Las Vegas show after Wednesday night performances and flew back to Memphis. He was hospitalized on doctors' orders Thursday night for "tests and fatigue."

Mrs. Cocke said Presley told her about her new car Friday morning. "Then he called me to his room about noon and said my car was here," she said.

Soviet nuclear test reported

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — The seismological institute today registered a "forceful" underground nuclear test on the Soviet island of Novaya Zemlya, its director reported.

Professor Marus Baath said the test occurred at 5 a.m. EDT and measured 6.6 on the Richter scale.

He added that similar tests with magnitudes varying between 6.3 and 7.1 on the Richter scale have been conducted on Novaya Zemlya each fall over the past 10 years or so. The test measuring 7.1 occurred in 1983.
